Board Session Tuesday Is Likely to Bring Tentative Plans For Election

$250,000 MENTIONED AS MINIMUM FIGURE

Steady Attendance Growth Brings Housing Problem Into Index Position

Cognizant of the necessity for prompt action in connection with improved school facilities for Santa Ana, the board of education here Tuesday will discuss tentative plans for calling a bond election within the immediate future, according to Secretary Frank L. Andrews, here, today.

"At this meeting," Andrews said "the board probably will take up the matter of the erection of a new school on the site of the present Roosevelt school, on East First street. If it is decided best to build a ten-room structure, the cost probably will be $75,000 or $80,000. The old building could be utilized while the new structure is being erected."

Mention $250,000 Issue Although definite plans of the board were not disclosed, it was said that the members were virtually a unit concerning the necessity for a bond issue of at least $250,000. Some were said to favor an issue of $350,000.

It was the feeling, members of the board explained, that school bonds should be voted in sufficient volume to fill the rapidly growing requirements of the city. It should not be necessary, members declared, to go before the voters whenever becomes necessary to make additions to existing schools or build new ones.

"I do not know, at this time," said Secretary Andrews, "just what amount the board will recommend, but it seems clear that we must act soon if we are to get the matter before the people this year. Tuesday we probably shall discuss ways and means and, in the near future, announce a definite program. It is the feeling that the need for a safe building on the Roosevelt site is absolutely imperative."

Attendance Gain Steady In this connection members called attention to the fact that in Los Angeles, where there are now more than 35,000 additional pupils in the public schools, registered since last September, a million-dollar bond issue was authorized to care for future requirements. Members of the board feel that Santa Ana, in like manner, but on a lesser scale, should plan intelligently for the future.

School executives said the increase in attendance in Santa Ana schools has been steady and unabating. It is said there are few cities in the Southland where the school increase has been so pronounced. The significance of this increase is shown by the figures of school officials here. On January 1, according to the records of Superintendent J. A. Cranston, the attendance at Santa Ana schools showed an increase of 25 per cent over that of last year.

Pastor Denounces Speeders; To Ask Motorists to Take Pledge

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 19.—Denouncing reckless motorists as "speed mad fools" and "no better than murderers," the Rev. J. Whitcomb Brougner, pastor of the Temple Baptist church, announced today that during the Sunday services tomorrow he will call upon every member of his congregation who drives a car to take the "motorist's" pledge.

Clink of U. S. Gold Draws Noted German Leader to America

Dr. A. Hermes (left), former German minister of finance, is in this country, and the other day, in company with Dr. Weidfeldt, German ambassador, called to pay his respects to President Coolidge. It is believed Dr. Hermes is in this country primarily to test sentiment for a loan to his country.

CUSS WORDS GIVE PEP TO PLEA FOR NORTH POLE TRIP

(By United Press Leased Wire) WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—"Hells Bells what are we going to do with the Shenandoah, put it on the mantle piece? Let's hang the Stars and Stripes on the North Pole!"

With this introduction, Lieutenant-Commander Robert Bartlett, who went to the North Pole with the late Admiral Peary, told the house naval committee today what he thought should be done with the giant airship.

Speaking a broad Irish-brogue and spicing his testimony with the "mother tongue" of seafaring men—cussing—the picturesque sailor pleaded with the committee "not to read American history, but let the navy make it."

"What in hell are we going to do with the airships if we don't make trips with them?" demanded Bartlett, his black eyes ablaze.

"By heavens, I want to see the stars and stripes hanging on the North pole. We've got a secretary of the navy with the punch and an admiral in charge of flying who has the nerve, so let the young men of America make history. Let's go!"

"Hell, we're getting soft; we're losing our punch sitting around here. We get killed in auto rides. Let the young fellows put it across."

In making a flight to the north pole, the Shenandoah "would be safer than an automobile on a road," Secretary Denby told the committee.

The proposed flight, Denby said, is a serious expedition and not "aeronautical acrobatics."

The objects are:

1. To discover and claim for America a vast unexplored continent believed by scientists to be in the Arctic circle.

2. To survey and map Alaska from the air.

3. To hang up a new aerial record for America by making a round-the-world flight by dirigible. Denby revealed for the first time that it is the plan to have the Shenandoah started on a round the world flight immediately after completing the mapping of Alaska. From Spitzbergen the dirigible would fly to England and on around the globe, Denby said.

Unloaded Torpedo Hits U. S. Vessel

CHERBOURG, Jan. 19.—The United States cruiser Colorado was struck today by an unloaded practice torpedo launched by a French submarine. The damage was slight and the Colorado was able to sail.

Brougner's will be: "Two hundred and nineteen persons killed by motor vehicles in Los Angeles in 1923. Don't kill another."

The pledge he will ask drivers to take is: "I hereby pledge myself to carefully obey the traffic laws and to be at all times mindful of the safety of others. In doing so I am merely obeying one law as I would another and am only doing my duty as a citizen."

DIG FOR LOOT IN $25,000 MAIL CASE

Shovels In Hand, Postal Inspectors Hie to S. A. Canyon Seeking Cache

J. A. Abernathy, one of the three men arrested in connection with the theft of $25,000 from a government mail sack at Anaheim December 27, 1923, put up $25,000 bail shortly before noon today and was released from the county jail here.

Possibility that the now famous "missing $25,000," fruits of Anaheim's sensational mail robbery case, was seen at the Mother Colony when it was learned that post office inspectors who have been working on the case were digging in the Santa Ana canyon today for the money.

Inspectors Rose, Jarvis and Lowe were concentrating their digging at the point in the canyon where a Pasadena motorist discovered a mail bag, the finding of which led to an investigation which culminated in the arrest of J. R. Abernathy, Charles R. Wheeler and J. L. Findlay, all of Anaheim.

Other new developments reported here today in connection with Anaheim's $25,000 mail robbery included:

A request upon the federal grand jury in Los Angeles to return an indictment of mail robbery against Abernathy, Wheeler and Findlay.

Reported finding of evidence by postoffice inspectors linking Wheeler, suspected postoffice clerk, with Ku Klux Klan interest.

Alleged discovery by the inspectors of other stolen articles, indicating to them tampering with the mails by Findlay, previous to the gigantic robbery of December 27.

Evidence to support the demand for an indictment against the trio was presented before the grand jury yesterday, it was said. A decision by the jury was being awaited today.

The Ku Klux Klan was first mentioned in the case when inspectors Rose, Jarvis and Lowe reported finding Klan literature and other papers used by the Klan organizers while searching Wheeler's home, 207 East Wilhelm street, Anaheim.

A second search of Findlay's home brought to light, it was claimed, gloves, clothing and other articles sought by the postal authorities as having disappeared from the mails.

That Abernathy planned the $25,000 coup six months ago, and that details involving a system of signals, had been worked out so minutely that the participants in the affair believed there was no chance of discovery, was said to be the gist of a confession made by Findlay in the county jail.

Signals flashed by Wheeler, the clerk to Findlay, the mail messenger, it was said, were for the purpose of notifying the latter in just what mail and in what pouch the money shipment to be intercepted was contained.

The shifting of a pencil behind his ear or the transfer of a fountain pen from his left to his right pocket were signals used by Wheeler, according to the reported confession.

CHILD WINS RACE WITH GRIM REAPER

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Jan. 19.—After a race of more than a thousand miles against death, Cletas Moore, eight months old son of a St. Louis laborer, arrived at the University hospital today for an operation to remove a cancerous growth.

The infant, huddled in the arms of Mrs. Lelan A. Parris, assistant superintendent of nurses at the St. Louis hospital, was taken to the hospital this morning after a dash half way across the continent on a fast express train.

Dr. Chevalier Jackson or Dr. Louis H. Clark will perform the operation today. It requires but a short time and is done with the aid of a bronchoscope invented by Dr. Jackson.

(By United Press Leased Wire) LOS ANGELES, Jan. 19.—Forrest Nelson, vicepresident of the Whittier Boulevard State bank here, was arrested today on telegraphic warrant from Great Falls, Mont., charged with wrecking the American Bank and Trust company, of that city, a year ago.

The arrest followed a recent indictment voted by the grand jury meeting at Great Falls, the advice stated, Nelson was president of the defunct bank.

Nelson came to Los Angeles a year ago and bought an interest in the local bank, a suburban institution.

Japanese Plan New Fight On Calif. Law

TOKIO, Jan. 19.—Japan is planning a new fight against the California anti-alien land law.

That became evident today when it was learned that plans are being formulated to modify Japan's own land laws so that foreigners will be permitted to own real property within the empire.

In the past one of the stumbling blocks Japan has encountered in opposing California's anti-alien legislation has been the fact that some of the same privileges California denies Japanese are denied Americans under Japanese laws.

NAB ITALIAN AS SUSPECT IN SLAYING

Alleged Brutal Murderer of Two Denver Women Caught After Long Search.

DENVER, Colo., Jan. 19.—Denver police were notified today by officers in Detroit, Mich., of the capture there of Joe Brindisi, alleged murderer here early last summer of Mrs. Lillian McGlone and Miss Emma Vasovic.

Murder of the two women was one of the most sensational in Denver history.

Brindisi is a native of Sicily and was several times thought to be surrounded but each time eluded the officers and finally escaped.

The arrest followed a tip from Denver police that Brindisi was thought to be in Detroit.

TRACE LOOT IN BIG MAIL JOB TO CHICAGO

(By United Press Leased Wire) CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—Six Chicago business and professional men were arrested and placed under $10,000 bond each today charged with disposing of loot obtained in a mail robbery in Los Angeles March 3, 1921. Herbert Wilson, known as the "preacher bandit," is charged with being the leader in the robbery.

The men held here following issuance of a secret indictment by a Los Angeles federal grand jury are:

Kenneth B. Anderson, real estate operator.

John Grahame, accountant.

Walter Gehlert, bank salesman.

Dr. Haldane Clemenson, well known Chicago physician.

Michael G. Rowell, cigar store owner.

William Prepaf, real estate operator.

A hearing before United States Commissioner James R. Glass here today was continued until January 22 after the men had provided bond. On that date Glass will decide whether the men are to be returned to Los Angeles.

Arrest of the Chicago sextet follows months of investigation by postal inspectors and tracing of securities obtained in the California robbery, department of justice officials said.

Compromises Halt Huge Rail Strike

LONDON, Jan. 19.—Eleventh hour compromises today led to probable postponement of the threatened national rail strike.

Trades union congress officials submitted to railroad managers an offer of the engineers and firemen to defer the walkout scheduled for tomorrow if the owners would postpone wage cuts due to become effective at that time.

VOLSTEAD IS CLASSED AS 'HUMBUG'

Civil War Hero, Teetotaler, Says "Glories" of Prohibition Lacking

(By United Press Leased Wire) WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—"Prohibition has failed to show one moral or economic benefit to society, to business or to the federal treasury," General Isaac Sherwood of Ohio told the house today in one of the bitterest attacks on the dry law ever heard in congress.

General Sherwood, in his 89th year, has been a teetotaler 76 years. He is the only veteran of the Union armies in the Civil War now in the house.

After four years of prohibition, Sherwood said, "not one promise of the alluring program of the anti-Saloon League for reforming the nation has been kept."

Bares Crime Increase "Crime has increased forty per cent, divorces in fifty cities have increased 35 per cent and murders have increased 40 per cent. And worse than all the calamities is the federal record of the dope fiends now numbering nearly one million."

Sherwood took a fling at the dry champion in the house—Representative Upshaw of Georgia—and dubbed former Representative Volstead of Minnesota, author of the dry law, a "humbug." Upshaw, in two hours of "sky rocket oratory" utterly ignored the record in pointing out the "glories" of prohibition, he said.

"One of the more baneful influences of prohibition," Sherwood said, was the largest increase in "booze drinking among young men and young girls."

Young Carry Flasks "Young men who never indulged in liquor before are carrying flasks in hip pockets, loaded with moonshine or bootleg whiskey and young girls are induced to drink the vile stuff in dance halls and automobiles parked along lonely roads."

Referring to the financial side of prohibition, Sherwood estimated the American people last year spent $550,000,000 for imported Scotch whiskey alone. He estimated that at least $22,536,936 was spent last year for the 11-268,614 liquor prescriptions issued by doctors.

Sherwood said the government was losing $600,000,000 a year in revenue and could pay the national debt in ten years by a stiff tax on light wines and beer.

While the people clamor for tax reduction he said the administration asks for $200,000,000 to build a "dry navy."

Sherwood declared that shutting out "the best quality of imported liquors gives the bootlegger a larger demand for home made 'undertaker's delight.'"

Exhibiting a patented whiskey flask, for which Sherwood said there was an increased demand, he added that it would never be filled while he owned it because he took a temperance pledge 76 years ago.

Await Word From Kin of Two Dead

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 19.—Word from relatives in Chester, Pa., of Eugene P. Howitt, killed with his wife in a trolley crash near here Wednesday, was awaited today by the local coroner. Mrs. Howitt's body will be buried in the family plot at Riverside, but Howitt's remains may be shipped East.

The couple was killed when a fast electric train crashed into a machine they had rented. Two little girls, daughters of Mrs. Howitt by a former marriage, were left orphans by the double tragedy.

Games of Chance Under Police Ban

SANTA BARBARA, Jan. 19.—No more games of chance will be played in civic and fraternal halls held here. Under an agreement between these organizations and police, effective today, all such attractions will be barred.

Texas To Let Mexican Troops Pass

AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 19.—Acting Governor T. W. Davidson today reversed his decision not to permit Mexican federal troops to cross Texas territory and announced that 2,000 Mexican troops would be permitted to cross from the New Mexico state line to El Paso, a distance of nine teen miles.

His announcement followed receipt of a telegram from Secretary of State Hughes in which the latter declared the government would appreciate it if the Texas executive would grant permission for the troops to enter Mexico via El Paso because of the urgency of the situation.

The national government, Secretary Hughes stated, will see to it that proper safeguards are taken to protect the lives and property of Texans.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Henry Ford today notified Chairman Kahn of the house military affairs committee that his offer to purchase Muscle Shoals still stands.

The Ford offer is subject to the one stipulation that substitution be made by the government for the Gorgas steam plant, sold to the Alabama Power company.

Many Lose Homes As Fire Razes Notorious Coast Opium Center

SANTA BARBARA, Jan. 19.—Destroying what officers say was one of the leading opium distributing centers in the state, wire early today wiped out the oriental quarter of Guadalupe, a small town in the northern part of the county.

Santa Maria reports estimated the loss at $75,000 but insurance men here say if the damage was anything near that amount, it was in personal property, as the shacks destroyed were almost worthless.

More than 150 Japanese and Chinese were left homeless. Local countrymen are starting a relief fund for the destitute.

The buildings were erected in 1872, and the burned settlement resembled a tumble-down '49 mining camp, rooming house and restaurants were in the majority of the picturesque structures destroyed.

The fire started in a joss house, where devout Chinese were burning incense to their gods.

County officials here regard the loss lightly, as the settlement has long been regarded as a community menace.

Plans for erecting permanent structures for American business concerns have already been started.

U. S. ASKS FACTS ON KILLING

Murder Presents New Tangle to Hughes In Mexican Situation

POLICY OF SILENCE TAKEN BY OFFICIALS

Sudden Change In Attitude Taken After Parley With Oil Men

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—The state department today officially announced that the cruiser Omaha and several destroyers had been ordered from Colon to Vera Cruz, Mexico.

COLON, Panama, Jan. 19.—The United States cruiser Omaha, accompanied by six destroyers, sailed under full steam from the harbor here today. It was authoritatively stated they have gone to protect American interests on the east coast of Mexico.

(By United Press Leased Wire) WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Corla M. Underwood, believed to be an American citizen, has been murdered near Panuco in the Gulf oil fields of Mexico, according to a dispatch to the state department from American Consul James B. Stewart at Tampico. The receipt of this report from the consul was made known at the state department today.

The American embassy at Mexico City has been instructed to investigate the killing of Underwood, with the purpose of determining those responsible.

Details were not contained in Stewart's dispatch to the department nor any further information concerning Underwood himself. The killing took place several days ago.

Behind a heavy curtain of secrecy drawn by express order of Secretary of State Hughes, the government today proceeded to develop and carry out its Mexican policy.

The decision reached yesterday by President Coolidge and his cabinet to send warships to Mexican waters when that becomes necessary to protect American lives and property and keep American commerce free from interference, still stands.

Whether that decision has been carried out or whether action upon it has been postponed for the present all high officials of the government refused to say. From Secretary Hughes down, officials said there was "nothing we can give out now."

Something happened late yesterday to stay announcement of the plan to send American warships to prevent the De La Huerta blockade of Tampico causing interference with American commerce.

Oil Men In Parley. The only sort of explanation that could be deduced from the fragmentary answers of officials and others concerned was that American oil interests with heavy holdings in the Tampico fields of Mexico advised Hughes against precipitate action. Representatives of these oil interests conferred with Hughes late yesterday and immediately thereafter every government official concerned adopted an attitude of strictest secrecy.

Just before the secrecy order be

URGE SPEED ON HUGE BOULDER DAM PROJECT

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 19.—The heads of five city governments of Southern California today awaited a reply to the joint telegrams they sent yesterday to President Coolidge and Secretary of the Interior Work, urging that immediate action be taken in the development of the Boulder Canyon dam project on the Colorado river.

The sending of the telegrams by the governmental heads of Los Angeles, Pasadena, Long Beach, Riverside and San Diego, was motivated by the belief that powerful private interests are attempting to gain delay so that the present congress will have no opportunity to act on the plan, it was declared.

The wire to the president read in part: "Earnestly and respectfully request your intervention and aid to prevent any further departmental delay in presenting to congress for action proposed project for improvement and development of lower Colorado river for protection of Imperial Valley from serious flood menace. Measures authorizing project has been before interior department for over thirty days waiting its report back to congressional committee before which pending."

The message further stated that the department of the interior has expended hundreds of thousands of dollars in investigations of the project during the past three years and that it recommended definite and well-matured plans to the last congress.

The telegram to Secretary of Interior Work urged him to put the measure before congress before it was too late for action to be taken on it.

SHOCKER AND BROWN CLUB MEND TROUBLE

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—Kenesaw M. Landis, supreme director of baseball, today announced that the case of Urban Shocker, St. Louis Browns' pitching ace, has been settled "to the mutual satisfaction of all concerned."

Landis said that Shocker and his wife called at baseball headquarters here today and informed him that he was "at peace" with the Browns.

Shocker withdrew his petition for unqualified release and free agency, Landis said.

Shocker was suspended by the Browns after he balked at not being allowed to take his wife on an eastern trip. Other players, he had insisted, were accompanied by their wives. He claimed he was being discriminated against and appealed to Landis.

Custody of Chow Pup Big Problem In Divorce Row

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 19.—W. E. Potter and his wife, Beatrice, agreed that they should get a divorce but they couldn't agree as to who should have custody of their chow dog "Ping." Last night they tried to settle it and finally the police arrived. The police couldn't settle it, so they called a taxi and took Ping to the hall of justice. There the bond and warrant clerk wrote out a solemn agreement giving Ping into custody of a public dog kennel until the courts decide whether Potter or his wife is best suited to raise the pup so he will grow up into a substantial citizen of the canine world.

HINT INSANITY CAUSE OF BIG SENSATION

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—Testimony planned to indicate that Mrs. Charlotte Leland is insane probably will be introduced in the court fight of the Rev. Carl D. Case, pastor of the fashionable Oak Park Baptist church against charges that he "kissed and fondled" Mrs. Leland.

Following a secret night meeting of the vestry committee of the church, it was said that the testimony of an alienist who previously examined Mrs. Leland would be offered in defense of Rev. Case.

Meanwhile Mrs. Leland, whose husband sued for a divorce on the grounds that she had confessed a "love affair" with the pastor, asked permission to "tell the real, the true story of all that has happened."

"Oh, please let me take the stand and tell all," Mrs. Leland pleaded. While prominent members of Rev. Case's congregation were quietly investigating the charges in an effort to clear their pastor, resolutions were adopted at a meeting of the Oak Park and Forest Park Pastors' union pledging their "unshaken confidence" in him.

The Rev. Case, who is 56 years old, filed a petition with Judge Foell asking that decision in Leland's suit for divorce be withheld until he has been allowed to tell his story. The petition sets forth that Rev. Case knew nothing of the divorce action and had no chance to prepare a defense.

Rev. Case's petition denies all of the charges in Mrs. Leland's alleged confession.

SUNDAY DANCE ORDINANCE IS GIVEN BOOST

SEAL BEACH, Jan. 19.—The proposed city ordinance prohibiting dancing between the hours of 12 o'clock Saturday night and the same hour Sunday night, and stringently regulating the week-time dances received the second reading at a meeting of the city council Thursday night and was approved by an unanimous vote of the council.

Recorder Resigns.
J. O. Putnam offered his resignation as city recorder, giving as his reason his inability to give time from his work for the duties entailed. The resignation was accepted and books of the city turned over to the board. A. E. Vencil was appointed to fill his place. The framing of an ordinance fixing a limit to building within fifteen feet of the front of residences lots received a spirited discussion but was finally laid over until a future meeting.

A letter was read from the Mersero Bridge and Construction company in answer to a request to examine and report on the condition of the Anaheim bay bridge. The city clerk was instructed to telephone the company to send men over to confer with officials on the needed repairs and cost of same, looking to improving the condition at once. The city marshal was instructed to keep a man, or two, if necessary, at the bridge to warn the public of danger in passing over the bridge.

Messrs. Finley and Snow, for many years prominent business men of Seal Beach, were in town Thursday and attended the council meeting.

The Aid society is much gratified over the successful serving of its first dinner in the auditorium. The facilities it affords them lightens the work immeasurably and adds also to the comfort and enjoyment of those being served. Representatives from Huntington Beach were present and showed much interest in the work of the women and the building and offered congratulations over the changes being made in the moral tone of the city.

Reunited Held.
Mr. William Beard, a prominent banker of Oregon, and his sister, Miss Emma Franks of Long Beach, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. John Wergin of Long Beach took Dr. C. A. Macanabara by surprise when they drove up to the church during the day Thursday. Mr. Beard and Miss Franks were Sunday school children under his pastorate years ago and were very dear friends.

Seventeen scouts assembled at the Thursday night meeting. Evidently the second year of the organization is to meet with even greater success than the former.

W. B. Auxer of Santa Ana was in Seal Beach this week scouting for Fargo, North Dakota, residents. It is the plan to hold a picnic and reunion in Long Beach soon for former residents of that section.

A. B. Ford of Danbury, Conn., is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Carver.

Mrs. Albert Thomsen is spending a week with her mother-in-law in Seal Beach, while Mr. Thomsen is doing some pruning on the Thomsen orchards near Downey.

A WORD OF COMFORT

The mother sends her boy to school to be educated. She wishes he did not have to endure the embarrassments and difficulties of learning to work and play with others, yet she knows that only so can her son become strong, capable and self-reliant.
Just so our Father sees us go out into the world. He does not send pain and sorrow. Though He knows it will develop us. He suffers when we are in grief. He sends us His words to uphold and to comfort when the burden is heavy. He knows and we know, we never enter His Gethsemane alone.

BEFORE BABIES WERE BORN

Mrs. Oswald Benefited by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Girardville, Pa.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before my last two babies came. It keeps me in perfect health and I am on my feet getting ready to do all my housework until an hour before the baby is born. A friend told me to take it and I have used ten bottles since I heard about it. I recommend the Vegetable Compound whenever I can. Just yesterday a friend was telling me how miserable she felt, and I said, 'If you start taking Lydia E. Pinkham's you will feel fine.' Now she is taking it."

Mrs. J. Oswald, Jr., 406 West Ogden St., Girardville, Pa.

Mrs. Nicola Paluzzi Says

Mishawaka, Indiana.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for weakness before my babies were born. I was weak and tired out all the time and it helped me. When I had inward inflammation the doctor treated me, but did not help me, so I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's. It helped me and it helped me at once."

News Briefs

Mr. and Mrs. A. Swank, of Linden, Calif., went to Los Angeles today to remain a week or more before returning to their home in the northern part of the state. Cousins of Horace and Walter Fine of this city, Mr. and Mrs. Swank have been in Santa Ana five weeks getting a "close-up" of the Orange county way of boosting and progressing. Swank is of the opinion that the Linden section is destined to become one of the important walnut growing districts of California.

C. H. Potts, 2702 North Main street, has contributed to the record of old coins in possession of local persons. He has an American silver dollar coined in 1795. His mother carried it until her death in a small "linsey" sack woven by his grandmother sixty years ago. Mr. Potts has carried it for about 45 years in the same sack. The little "linsey" sack is as sound and strong as it was the day it was woven.

J. J. Garrison, foreman at the garage of the Pushley Motor company here, today was completing details for his entrance in the automobile races at Ascot park tomorrow. He has entered "Garrison's Special," a rebuilt Chevrolet, and expects to be at the head of the procession at the close of each of the events in which he will drive. The car to be driven is the same machine Garrison drove in the "Auto Resurrection Day" races in Santa Ana last year.

Concluding last night a week of evangelistic meetings, members of Zion Evangelical church here today were looking forward to a continuation of the service throughout next week. There will be no services tonight. Tomorrow there will be services at the church, Tenth and North Main streets, at 9:30 a. m., 11 a. m. and 7 p. m., with a meeting for children at 2:30 p. m. The Rev. E. W. Matz, pastor of the Evangelical church at Long Beach, is conducting the meetings.

F. Vandivort, electrical contractor, has taken a four-year lease on a store building at 908 West Fourth street, in the Edwards block, and moved to the new location Tuesday. He was formerly located at 1402 North Main street, but his growing business made the change necessary. He expects to handle a full line of fixtures, lamps and electrical appliances in connection with the general contracting business.

PHONOGRAPH OFFER LURES LOT BUYERS

The free offer made by sub-dividers of Homewood, new Buena Park tract, of five cabinet phonographs has caused more than a little local interest, according to officials of the A. B. C. Sales company, agents.

"To get one of these beautiful instruments persons should register at one of the offices of the A. B. C. Sales company, and then attend the tract on the formal opening day, which will be announced shortly," said Agent Tait. "Many registrations already have been made at the local office of the company, 419 North Broadway."

The A. B. C. Sales company is an organization opening a chain of real estate offices in many Southern California cities. It is still more interesting to note that both partners of the company, Tait and Lecoq, have come to make their permanent home in this locality, moving here from Inglewood.

County Coolidge Club Proposes Chapman As National Delegate

Voicing the highest possible praise for Calvin Coolidge, prominent Orange county Republicans who assisted in the formation of an Orange County Coolidge club at the city hall in Orange last night were present today at a district meeting in Riverside for the purpose of deciding upon Southern California delegates to the Republican national convention to be held in Cleveland.

Lewis F. Coburn, Orange attorney, and Alex Brownridge, Santa Ana banker, were named president and secretary, respectively, of the Orange County Coolidge club organized at last night's meeting. Representatives of the Coolidge clubs of Fullerton, Anaheim, Santa Ana, Huntington Beach and La Habra were present.

Republicans Speak
Among the leading Republicans who delivered short, forceful addresses were Nelson T. Edwards, former Orange county supervisor, and at present a member of the California highway commission. Addresses were also delivered by J. O. Hart, postmaster of Orange; Justus F. Craemer, business manager of the Orange News; Mayor W. F. Coulter of Fullerton; J. S. Smart and C. H. Chapman of Santa Ana; and J. E. Brownridge of the Huntington Beach News. A. S. Ralph, Orange County Automobile club; E. C. Dutton of Anaheim; Judge J. S. Howard of Anaheim; Coburn and others.

Six delegates were selected to attend the Riverside meeting, instructed to vote for C. C. Chapman, Fullerton millionaire, as delegate to the national convention. The delegates to the Riverside meeting were: E. C. Dutton, Anaheim; R. T. Davis, Fullerton; Justus F. Craemer, Orange; J. S. Smart, Santa Ana; W. L. York, La Habra; and J. J. Conrad of Huntington Beach.

See Early Nomination
Many of the speakers expressed their belief that the Cleveland convention will nominate President Coolidge on the first ballot. Among those who held this belief were Highway Commissioner Edwards and Postmaster Hart.

"I am for Calvin Coolidge because he is the logical man for the party here, today," said Chapman, who is not in favor of trading horses in the middle of the stream," said Commissioner Edwards.

"This is a presidential year, but you will observe there has been no business disturbance, as usually is the case. Why? Because the people know they are safe with Coolidge. That's why they are going to keep him in the White House."

"I am not in favor of exchanging a splendid, powerful, well-trained animal for a wild broncho."

Postmaster Hart said:

Redemption Held Near

"California needs redemption before the Republicans of this county."

And she is about to get it. California will redeem herself by adding the great movement to sweep Calvin Coolidge into the presidency."

Included in the list of vice-presidents named by those in charge of last night's meeting were Mrs. T. B. Talbot, wife of the chairman of the Orange county board of supervisors; Mrs. L. P. Damewood of Orange, and Mrs. W. L. Grubb of Santa Ana. Other vice-presidents were:

Judge J. S. Howard, Anaheim; George Thamer, Fullerton; J. S. Smart, Santa Ana; J. J. Conrad, Huntington Beach; C. J. Crumrine, La Habra; A. S. Ralph, Placentia; J. P. Greeley, Balboa; Mrs. Nellie Terry, Anaheim; Mrs. G. W. Sherwood, Fullerton; Mrs. J. H. Walker, La Habra, and Mrs. W. W. Blackmur, Placentia.

SKYLIGHT THIEF FLEES STORE ON FOURTH

Leaving behind him, on the roof of the establishment, a list of cities which police believe he may intend to visit, a skylight burglar last night entered The Wardrobe, men's furnishing store, 117 East Fourth street, but was frightened away before he had an opportunity to loot the place.

B. Uttley, proprietor, said when he returned to turn out the store window lights about 9 o'clock last night he probably frightened the would-be thief away. He had only to open the front door to switch off the lights.

Patrolmen Yoder and Hurd, who investigated the robbery attempt, discovered this morning, said entrance evidently had been made early in the evening.

Skylight glasses had been removed and laid aside, and a wire screen had been lifted. The intruder then apparently slid down the supporting column into the store. When he left he piled a lock from the rear door.

A hat, razor blade, piece of heavy wire, ticket punch, such as is used by waiters to punch restaurant checks, and a portion of a railway time table, bearing names of Southern California towns, were found on the roof.

William Jennings Bryan's Weekly Bible Talk

The deliverance of the Children of Israel was a continuing miracle—one of the best authenticated miracles recorded in the Old Testament.

Those who deny the possibility of a miracle are apt to pick out the ones which seem to them most unlikely or in support of which there is the least evidence. One of the most prominent of the miracle critics recently selected two for special attack, the swallowing of Jonah by a big fish and the floating of the ax-head.

As a matter of fact, all of the Bible miracles stand upon the same ground and are equally defensible. They all assume the existence of a God who not only can perform miracles but does perform miracles, either by laws unknown to man or by overcoming his own laws by His own infinite power, as man's puny arm overcomes the law of gravitation when it lifts a weight; they all rest upon the authority of the Bible record and that record is not disputed by any opposing evidence.

Those who question these miracles do so, not on the ground that the evidence in these cases is insufficient, but on the ground that miracles being in their opinion impossible, no amount of evidence would be sufficient. It so happens that Christ used the miracle of Jonah as an illustration, likening His three days in the tomb to Jonah's three days in the belly of the fish. There is no higher authority on miracles.

An Unusual Verification
Attention is called to other miracles merely to suggest that the miracles connected with the emancipation of the Children of Israel from bondage have a verification that is peculiarly their own in that they have been commemorated by the Children of Israel for nearly thirty-five centuries.

The Feast of the Passover may, without impropriety, be regarded as the first great Thanksgiving feast. It commemorated a miraculous deliverance. To the miracle that finally softened the heart of Pharaoh may be added those that preceded it and the series of miracles that protected the Children of Israel after their deliverance, guided them, nourished them, and brought them safely into the Promised Land.

These miracles are all joined together and, combined, offer complete and conclusive proof of the Almighty's power, exercised through Moses, who was under God's special direction in the accomplishing of the gigantic task entrusted to him.

Those who question the supernatural elements of the experience of the Children of Israel find it more difficult to account for the achievements of Moses than those who accept the Bible account as true. Moses, as the spokesman of a God infinite in power, was the mightiest of men. If he could properly be credited with doing by himself what God did through him, he would be incomparably greater than any other man who ever lived.

Elusive Destiny
As soon as Pharaoh and his officers could bury their dead—their first born—and bring to an end the customary period of mourning, they started in pursuit of the fleeing Israelites and, if they could, they justly blamed the Hebrews instead of the Lord for what had occurred, they had reasons enough for revenge.

But the anger of the Egyptians furnished an occasion for further manifestations of divine power. The pillar of cloud by day and the pillar of fire by night have, ever since, been used as similes to describe superlative providential care. When the Children of Israel reached the shore of the Red Sea and heard the shout of their pursuers, the faint hearted among them despaired of escape—even murmured against Moses and preferred to trust the mercy of their former oppressors than the mercy of the waves.

It was an exultant moment for the Egyptians. Making their calculation upon only the human elements of the problem, they felt sure that they were about to recapture their fleeing slaves.

What a deceptive thing is destiny, and how elusive! Man's opinion of what is to be is half wish and half environment. Here wish and environment seemed to combine to make certain an overwhelming victory for the Egyptians. But in the working out of destiny, the unknown quantity is God, and as His powers are limitless, no calculation as to the future can be accurate unless it includes Him and His purposes.

Just as the gloating captains of Pharaoh's host were giving voice to shouts of triumph, God caused an east wind to blow all the night and drive the sea back until the Children of Israel were able to cross over on dry ground. What a picture of power, and for the moment, what faith the Children of Israel had as they marched between the two walls of water—walls that were a greater menace than the sea would ordinarily have been, had they not been restrained by the unseen hand of Jehovah.

And the Egyptians hurried after them. Their speed was first checked as Israel's Jehovah took off their chariot wheels and then, when they had all marched in between the walls of water, Moses, at God's command, stretched forth his hand over the sea and the waters fell back into their place, drowning the enemy. With the sea between the Children of Israel and their former masters, the way was clear for their advance.

"And Israel saw that great work which the Lord did upon the Egyptians; and the people feared the Lord, and believed the Lord, and his servant Moses." Those who had had faith felt their faith increase; those who had murmured were ashamed that they had doubted their leader or their leader's God.

Man, Plus God
There is one lesson taught by our text which stands out above the others and is of great practical value in our daily life; namely, that man, plus God, is sufficient for any emergency, whether man acts as an individual or as a nation.

The hand of God in history is easily traced when time enough has elapsed for a proper survey of events. Trivial circumstances sometimes prove the turning points in life. Faith is tested when one attempts the seemingly impossible and, by attempting, proves what can be done when one is on the Lord's side.

Some thirty years ago I heard a colored preacher use an illustration which I have recalled many, many times. He defined faith as willingness to do what God tells us to do without asking any questions. To illustrate it, he said:

"If the Lord tells me to butt my head through a stone wall, I butt—that is my part; going through the wall is the Lord's part."
Times innumerable men of faith

have walked straight up to what seemed a solid wall, only to find an unexpected opening in the wall.

God's Directing Hand
The tide of battle has often been turned by the manipulations of fate had victory within its grasp. A wind scattered the Spanish Armada and changed the course of history for centuries. A sunken road at Waterloo thwarted the plans of Napoleon and made him a prisoner at St. Helena instead of an emperor upon a world throne.

As the audience, ignorant of the manipulations of fate directing the actors with what is done, so mankind, ignorant of the unseen forces that create and mould events, are prone to magnify the human parts and overlook the directing hand of the Almighty. "A man's heart deviseth his way; but the Lord directeth his steps."

Such a lesson as that which is given in our text is like the interpretation of a dream or Christ's explanation of the parable; it enables us to understand what we might not without the record be able to interpret so clearly.

Every Line a Thrilling Record
Every human life is a thrilling record of intertwined events. Compelled to live without his own will and surrounded with an environment of time, country, race and family about which he has no choice, man begins his career. Limited by lines which he did not draw and cannot change, favored by winds that are beyond his control or buffeted by storm that he has not the power to resist, he walks amid temptations the road that leads from the cradle to the grave—and this, too, in a world abounding in sin.

Is it strange that the God who placed man here as a part of a divine plan and permits him to be beset by constant perils, would guard his every step and supply the strength needed to meet every emergency?

Is it strange that a Father as loving as our Heavenly Father would reveal His will, provide for the forgiveness of sin and put up warning signs at every danger point to keep man in the straight and narrow way, and then provide a plan of redemption for those who repent of sin and commit?

God's Enveloping Mercy
The naturalness of God's provisions are convincing and confirm one's faith in the authenticity of the Book of Books. Our lesson gives us a small cross section, so to speak, of the history of a single race. The cover is removed and we are able to see the internal workings of a people who in their conduct reproduce upon a large scale individual life with its wanderings, its promises, its backslidings, its punishments and its restorations to favor. Such experiences as are recorded in the history of Israel increase our faith and teach us that "There is a wilderness in God's mercy That is wider than the sea;

There is a kindness in His justice That is ore than liberty."

DAZZLING COSTUMES USED IN FILMING PLAY TO BE WORN WHEN "ROBIN HOOD" STAGED

R. R. Miles of Santa Ana, who has title part in "Robin Hood," Reginald De Koven's famous opera which the Orange County Choral union will present at the Yost theater here Tuesday and Wednesday nights. Miles is shown in the same costume which Douglass Fairbanks wore in the filming of "Robin Hood."

Feminine gasps of delight are certain to be heard at the Yost theater here next Tuesday and Wednesday nights when Mrs. La Rue Mayer, primo donna of "Robin Hood," which the Orange County Choral union will present there, is seen in the bride's costume which was worn by Enid Bennett in the film production of the famous story of Sherwood forest, according to Ellis Rhodes, director of the organization.

"The bride's dress is really a stunning creation in theatrical costuming," Rhodes said. "It is of white satin brocade, heavily beaded with pearls. The head-dress is composed of a long white veil, pearl-crusted and held in place by a pearl tiara.

Dress Authentic.
"The dress, as are all the others used in our opera, is absolutely authentic in every detail and is a beautiful example of what many persons regard as the most attractive period, from a standpoint of dress, in all of England's colorful history. Every attention has been given to costuming, and there will be nothing incongruous on the stage, either in the matter of clothing worn, or in the matter of scenery.

"R. R. Miles, who plays Robin Hood" will wear the same costumes that Douglas Fairbanks wore. The wedding costume is particularly attractive. It is of black velvet trimmed with genuine sable and decorated with rhinestones. In the first act he wears the conventional hunter's costume of green and in the second act his costume is of gray suede, entirely hand-made with steel rings gartered into the material.

"Mrs. J. M. Hitchcock of Anaheim, who will sing Annabelle on the opening night here, and Miss Kathleen Owens of Santa Ana, who will sing the part of the following night, will have lovely costumes. The dresses are charming as to color and line and are sterling examples of the costume designer's art.

"In fact, the costume ensemble will be striking in the extreme. The unique head-dresses of the period, together with the long, flowing sleeves, give a touch that is unique.

"The costumes were supplied by one of the largest theatrical clothing establishments in the West. We spent one entire day in Los Angeles, selecting the costumes we needed. Even some of the costumes for the chorus were used by 'extras' when 'Robin Hood' was filmed.

"I personally inspected every piece of scenery that was rented in Los Angeles. Much of this scenery also was used in the film."

Novel Plea Wins
Release of Film
Man in Rum Net

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 19.—Joseph W. Engle, film executive, charged with violating the Volstead act, was free today under a novel defense.

A few weeks ago a large shipment of wet goods, consigned to Engle, arrived at the express office here, and was seized by federal officers, who placed Engle under arrest.

He promptly denied possession of the liquor, or knowing from whom it came, and since it had never been received by him, his plea of non-possession was upheld by the court.

SHOTS QUIET MADMAN.
REDWOOD CITY, Calif., Jan. 19.—Raving mad, Archie McKendry, wealthy owner of a 200-acre ranch near here, battled for three hours with police last night before he was brought down with rifle bullets through his leg and hip.

INVALID DENIES WOMAN'S DEATH IMPLICATION

Refusing absolutely to discuss the charges under which he is held by Santa Ana police, Charles Stock, self-styled author, invalid, and alleged wealthy mendicant, today emphatically denied statements attributed to Chief of Police James Patrick of San Diego that Stock had been tried in the southern city more than a year ago on a charge of having run down and killed Miss Maria Smythe of 4037 Stockton avenue, Balboa park, suburb of San Diego.

Stock is held in the county hospital here charged with failing to render aid after running down with his automobile Florence Alsop, daughter of J. L. Alsop, 1407 West Fifth street.

Claim Release Given.
According to Chief of Police Patrick of San Diego, when Stock was arrested in that city he at first denied that his car had struck Miss Smythe.

Later he admitted being the driver of the car, Patrick claims, but was released by Coroner Kelly and Police Lieutenant Hill, as he is said to be a sufferer from tuberculosis of the bones.

Upon examination by Dr. E. H. Crabtree at the city jail in San Diego, he was reported as being physically and mentally unfit to operate an automobile, according to statements attributed to the chief of police.

Acting upon this report, Chief Patrick sent Stock's license to operate a car to the state motor vehicle department at Sacramento, where it is asserted, it was cancelled.

Knowledge Denied.
When questioned at the county hospital here today Stock, who had previously denied that Los Angeles officers found $13,000 in a leg brace worn by him, absolutely denied that he had ever been held in connection with the death of Miss Smythe, or that his license to operate a car had been revoked.

He admitted he knew Chief Patrick, however, and had spent some time in San Diego. He asserted that he, at one time, had served on a coroner's jury hearing evidence in a case where a woman had been killed in San Diego under similar conditions. He could recall few details of the case, he asserted. He also denied all knowledge of the Santa Ana accident, saying he refused, upon advice of counsel, to discuss the case.

JOHNSON TAKES NEW FLING AT MELLON BILL

(By United Press Leased Wire)
CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—Describing the Mellon tax reduction plan as "cuttlefish ink in the political waters" and "a beautiful mirage to blind our people," Hiram Johnson pushed his campaign in Illinois for the presidency in two speeches here last night.

Though his language was perhaps more pointed and caustic, the trend of Johnson's Chicago speeches was virtually in line with his Cleveland address which opened his campaign.

"A foreign policy which speaks against permanent political alliances and then practically allies us with an existing power upon this hemisphere (Mexico), constitutes a record of foreign policy which needs the obscuring sheen of a tax reduction scheme," Johnson said.

The reduction, he said, is not a political issue. He branded the sale of arms to the Mexican government as "immoral if not illegal."

CHURCHES PLANNING FOR WORLD EXHIBIT

The Presbyterian churches of Los Angeles and Pasadena plan to stage a world exhibit, in which more than 600 persons will participate, some in costume, it had been learned here today. Fifty-five churches in the Los Angeles district also will have a share.

Twenty-five separate booths will depict the various phases of denominational work, while a spectacular pageant, "The Striking of America's Hour," will have a feature place. The pageant will be given only at nights.

The Los Angeles Immanuel Presbyterian church will stage the exhibit January 21 to 24, while the Pasadena church will continue it, beginning January 28 and ending January 31.

New Officers At Poly Are Chosen

Following their election yesterday afternoon, new officers of the student body of the high school today had assumed their duties. Lloyd Morris was chosen as president and Miss Constance Crook-shank, vice president, the latter having exercised the privilege of a rule of the body, that nominees for the presidency and vice presidency may choose which of the offices they will accept.

Ethel Smallwood was chosen secretary and the following were selected as representatives of the self-government committee: Adelaide Spence, Annie Tarver, Roland Rabe and George Sierker.

Arrest 6 Youths In Plot to Blow Up Schoolhouse

RIVERSIDE, Jan. 19.—Six boys, none of whom was over 11 years of age, were being held at the detention home today as the result of their confession that they had stolen 100 sticks of dynamite and 1200 percussion caps with the intention of blowing up the Alhambra schoolhouse.

They had only six sticks of dynamite in their possession and refused to tell where they had hidden the rest, according to deputy sheriffs.

SAYS SAVING IS FOUNDATION OF HAPPINESS

"Life is not made for savings, but savings are made that life may be more abundant here and now," according to John A. Goodell, head of the national thrift committee of Y. M. C. A. now in Santa Ana to head the completion of the building fund of the local organization.

"This week," Goodell added, "we are having some remarkable evidences that thrift has taken a firm hold on the people of the United States. Throughout the nation, men, women and children are lending themselves to this movement with more and more enthusiasm.

"By thrift education today we can revolutionize the nation of tomorrow. It is not the budget that sets the limits but the income.

"Among the most important contributions that can be made to the better home movement is that which begins at the very bottom in the matter of the administration of home funds to produce a maximum of happiness and efficiency. "It is by no means a matter of stupid arithmetic. It is the very means by which the home is made to serve its best ends and serve them smoothly and joyously.

"He who regulates his income and outgo knows peace of mind," according to A. W. Mellon, secretary of the United States treasury.

"The successful, efficiently-functioning home of today builds its artistic superstructure on a foundation of carefully thought-out business principles, otherwise it may be as unstable and temporary as the home built on sand. The cornerstone should be the home budget. Own your own home.

CAR FATALITIES FOR YEAR GAIN BUT 13 PCT. IN L. A. CITY

County Increase, However, Almost Double That of Previous 365 Days

FIGURES HELD NATURAL

Non-Use of Mental Facilities Blamed by Coroner As Pedestrians Hurt

Fatalities from automobile accidents in the city of Los Angeles in 1923 increased 13 per cent over the number of deaths in 1922 from the same cause.

In Los Angeles county, outside of the city, the increase was 70 per cent.

In the county, in 1922, deaths numbered 340; while in 1923, they numbered 443.

This information was contained in a letter received here today by J. P. Baumgartner, editor of The Register, from Frank A. Nance, coroner of Los Angeles county. The letter was written in response to a request by Baumgartner for the information.

Discussing the cause for the increase, Coroner Nance wrote:

Population Gain Blamed

"In reply to your inquiry of January 12, relative to deaths from automobile accidents in this county during the year 1923, as compared with those that occurred in the year 1922, I will advise that the total fatalities from automobile accidents in 1922 was 340, and in 1923, 443; an increase of 103 or 30 per cent, during the last year. I find that deaths from automobile accidents occurring in Los Angeles city during the last year show an increase of 13 per cent over the previous year, and deaths occurring from accidents outside of Los Angeles city show an increase of 70 per cent over the preceding year.

"I know of no other reason for the increase in the death rate from automobile accidents than the increase in population and in the number of automobiles operated on the highways in this county. This ratio of increase in the whole county and in Los Angeles city is not greater than it has been for several years past, and we expect the number of fatalities from automobile accidents to keep pace with the growth of population.

"I am at a loss to understand why the accidents which occurred outside of Los Angeles city the last year were 70 per cent greater than the previous year, but when you realize that Long Beach, Pasadena and a number of other good-sized towns are included in that territory, and that they, also, are growing rapidly in population

500 Tons Auto Plates 1924 Total in Cal.

When the million and a quarter set of plates provided for California automobiles, this year have been issued, automobiles and trucks of the state will be carrying 500 tons of metal, according to computations made here today by A. S. Ralph, manager of the Orange County Auto club.

The compilation was made on the basis of one hundred sets weighing eighty pounds, Ralph said.

The manager added that Will H. Marsh, superintendent of the motor vehicle department, had stated in a recent conversation with him that it was expected that all the plates ordered would be issued by the end of the year.

Urges More Care In Selling Autos On Time Account

Instances of men buying automobiles on monthly payments and assuming other obligations that made their monthly expense in excess of their earnings, were cited by W. G. Leo, manager of the credit department of the Orange County Automobile Dealers Association, last night when he told members of the Orange County Automobile Dealers Association, meeting at O. A. Haley's garage, that automobile dealers should not make sales on time payments without first investigating the qualifications of such buyers to meet their obligations.

In effect, Leo charged that dealers are responsible, in many cases, for "bad accounts" that develop in general merchandising. He asserted that hundreds of men are buying machines on contract who were not financially qualified to carry such a burden.

Herman Zazel, finger print expert at the sheriff's office, urged co-operation of automobile tradesmen in the detection of criminals, particularly emphasizing the importance of listing names of owners and license numbers of cars stored in their places of business.

SUCCESS SEEN FOR NEW AUTO FUEL IN '24

New Form of Gasoline In Which Ethyl Fluid Injected Is Used

The year 1924 will witness the spread of more powerful and more efficient motor fuel than heretofore has been in use, in the opinion of J. B. Glaze, secretary of the Orange County Automobile Trades Association.

The secretary's prediction is made on the basis of tests now being conducted, and uses already being made, of new automobile fuels.

"Large oil companies, here and there, are trying a new form of gasoline in which ethyl fluid is injected," said Glaze.

Less Carbonization. "In the south, a similar fuel is being used. In the gas-well regions of Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia, a process by which gasoline can be extracted from gas is being tested.

"Other compounds are introduced at regular intervals, all promising to reduce the cost of fuel for motor cars, produce more mileage and cause less carbonization.

"Yet, from the Bureau of Mines comes the assertion that coarse gasoline isn't any worse than the refined or 'high test' variety, that it works as well as any cleaner fuel. But the advantage of the costlier fuel lies in its capacity to start a cold motor sooner than the other, and to keep the cylinders comparatively free from carbon. So far as mileage is concerned, there seems to be no advantage.

More Mileage.

"It is on the matter of mileage, however, that the motorist will profit this year, if the inventions and discoveries of chemists are commercialized. There is, for instance, the ethyl gas produced in the General Motors Research Laboratories in Dayton, last year. Greater mileage, greater power, greater economy are claimed for this fuel. And all it consists of, say the chemists responsible for its discovery, is a small portion of ethyl fluid to ordinary gasoline.

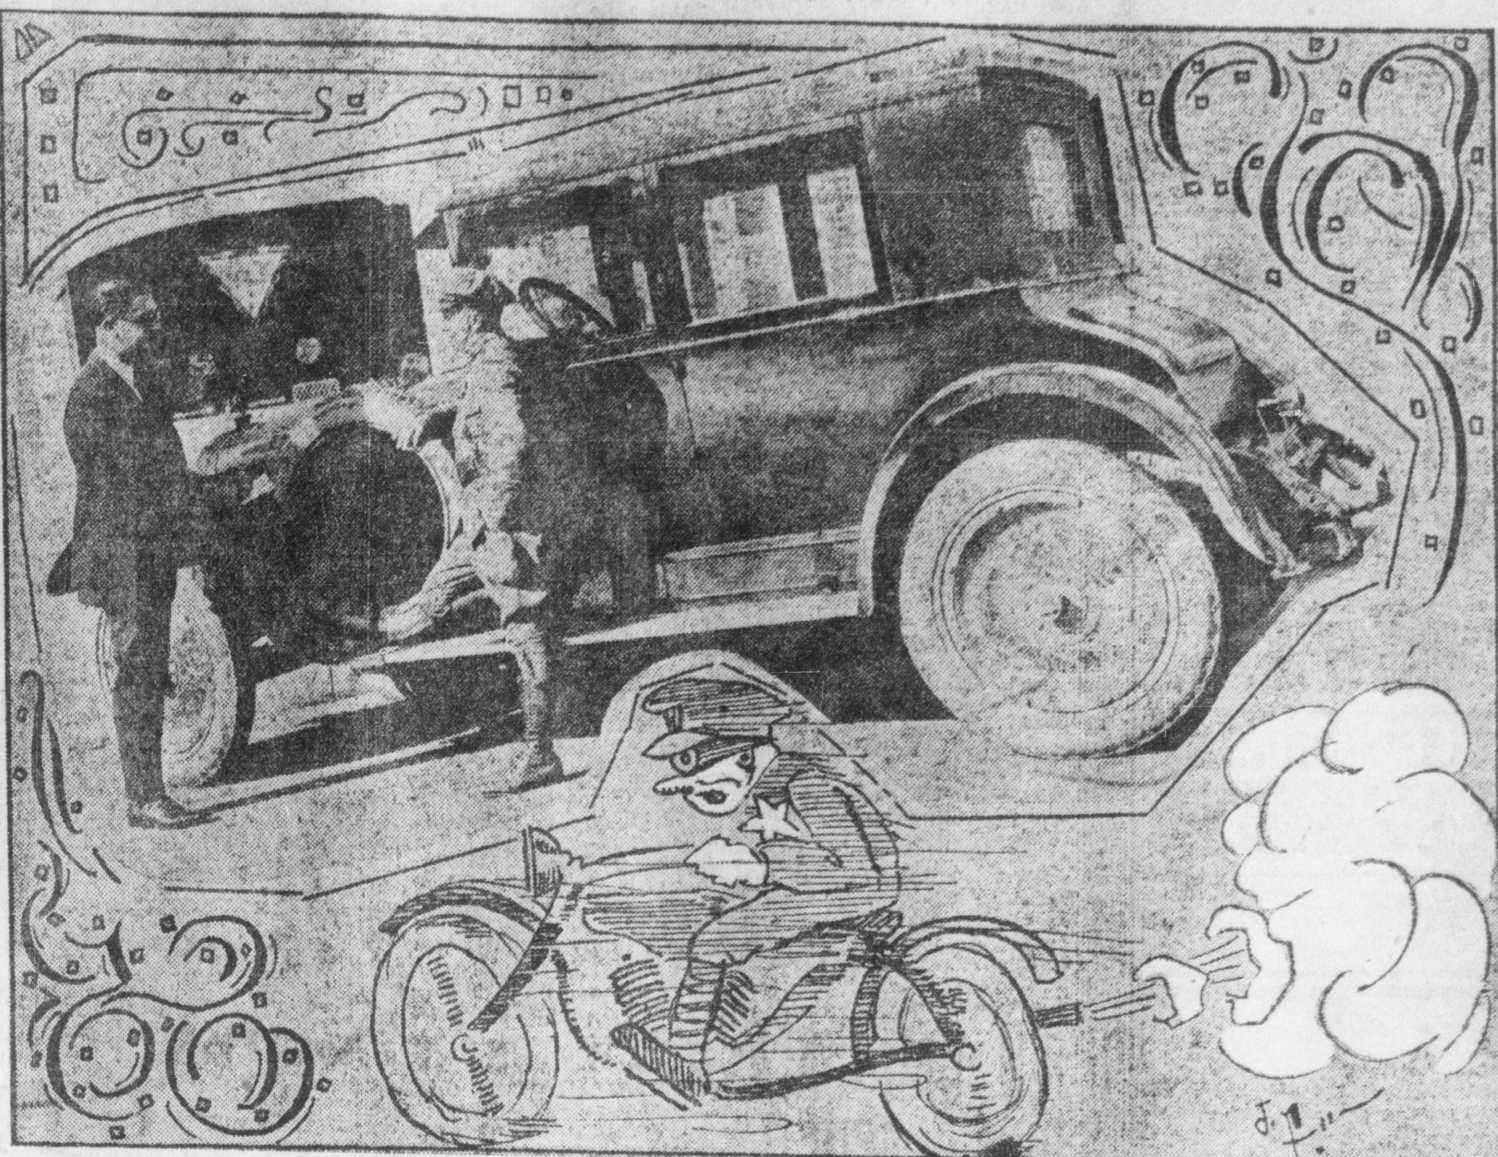

"In the south, a fuel, similar in accomplishment to the ethyl gas, is now in use.

Better Engines. "At the same time, automobile engines are being perfected to the point of assisting the fuel in bringing about more mileage, at less cost, and in reducing the carbonization and knocking that motorists now have to tolerate. All indications seem to point toward adoption of certain advantageous features of the Diesel engine to produce this result.

"Inventors have been working on the high-compression principle, with view of incorporating it in an automobile engine.

"Between this and progress toward a better, cheaper fuel, there is hope this year for greater mileage, more economy and less engine trouble for motorists."

TRAFFIC OFFICER SAYS HIS CAR WENT 95 MILES HOUR

Vernon ("Shorty") Myers, at right, county motorcycle officer, and his new Hudson coach, recently purchased from the Townsend Motor company. Myers is trying to convince R. W. Townsend of the company that he has driven his new machine at the rate of ninety-five miles an hour. The excessive speed, however, was driven only for one measured mile, according to the motorcycle officer, and not in regular driving. Myers says that except when on duty, he adheres strictly to speed limitations made and provided for in the state motor vehicle act.

REQUIRES RENT CARS TO PAY WEIGHT FREE

Declaring that the new motor vehicle act places rent cars in the commercial class, Will H. Marsh, superintendent of the motor vehicle department, at Sacramento today issued a statement that all owners of rent cars will be required to pay the weight fee based on commercial schedules, in addition to the regular fee of $3 for 1924 licenses.

Owners of such cars will be required to furnish a weight certificate with application for registration showing the unladen weight and the kind of tires.

Registration on all types of motor vehicles began last Monday.

R. W. Townsend, manager of the Townsend Motor company, distributor here for the Hudson and Essex automobiles, today had joined the ranks of Doubting Thomases, particularly as the latter are represented by those motorists whom Vernon ("Shorty") Myers, one of the county traffic officers, accuses of speeding in excess of the limitations of the motor vehicle act.

When Myers halts a speeder he is more or less convincing in his statements that the accused man has been driving too fast. Myers asserted that he is having difficulty in convincing Townsend, the former has shoved his new Hudson sedan upon to ninety-five miles an hour.

Gas Average High Townsend declared it "can't be did" and Myers said it has been done—and by Myers in his own Hudson. According to Townsend, the men still are arguing the point.

Following this more or less startling declaration, Myers bobbed up at the garage a few days ago with a statement that, after he had recorded 824 miles on the

TO LET COAST HIGHWAY WORK WEDNESDAY

The contract for construction of that portion of the coast boulevard between Huntington Beach and Newport Beach, declared by the state highway commission to be one of the important units of its 1924 building program, will be awarded Wednesday, according to an announcement emanating from the Sacramento office of the commission.

That the bid of W. F. Beal, of Brawley, was approximately $7,000 lower than the engineer's estimate, also was revealed by the commission. The engineer's estimate was $195,339.50 and Beal's bid was $188,025.35.

The contract is for grading 8.2 miles, from Huntington Beach to Balboa Palisades, and for paving 3.5 miles of the grade, from Huntington Beach, to a point near the bridge crossing Santa Ana river on the Newport Beach boulevard.

From this junction to Balboa Palisades, a dirt road is to be made, with a clay surface. Engineers declare that this will make a good, smooth highway and that it will be serviceable until such time as the section may be paved.

TELLS BIG RECORD MADE BY FRANKLIN

According to H. A. Shugart, of Shugart and Son, local agent for the Franklin, Carry Clark of New Bedford, Mass., recently completed the 403 mile journey from that city to Syracuse, N. Y., in twelve hours elapsed time, in a 1921 Franklin Demi-Coupe that had already been driven 33,000 miles.

"Not only was the big part of the journey made in darkness, but the drive from New Bedford to Albany, a distance of 253 miles, was accomplished in a driving rain storm," says Shugart. "The 150 miles of road between Albany and Syracuse was wet and fog was encountered nearly all of the distance between these two cities."

(Register Automobile Editor) The startling revelation made by Coroner C. D. Brown recently that death from automobile accidents in 1923 totalled fifty, as against fifteen the previous year, has caused no end of discussion as to why the increase.

Surprise is expressed that the increase should be so large, in face of the general knowledge that Santa Ana is famous justice of the peace, J. B. Cox, has been dishing out jail sentences for motorists who drive at excessive speeds.

The Register has endeavored to get statements from coroners of other Southern California counties as to the number of deaths from automobile accidents in their counties in 1922 and 1923. To date the only response has been from Frank A. Nance, coroner of Los Angeles county.

Traffic Curbs Speed Nance's observations are given in another column on the first page of today's automobile section. I hope my readers will read and ponder over his statements. In brief, his report discloses that deaths in Los Angeles city last year increased 13 per cent, and in the county outside of Los Angeles, 70 per cent.

The difference in the deaths as between the city and the county, in my opinion, answers pretty fully the question of why the increase in Orange county.

Congested traffic in Los Angeles prevents speeding. The collisions there no doubt are numerous, and caused largely by drivers pulling out of line and attempting to dodge in somewhere ahead of the position where departure was made from the line. Such drivers, however, do not get their cars speeded up very fast and when a collision occurs damage is suffered only by the cars involved. Passengers may be hurt, but seldom is there a death resulting from such an accident.

'Freedom' Blamed Orange county highways are open—they bear heavy traffic, it is true, but not like the busy thoroughfares in the big city.

In the opinion of A. S. Ralph, manager of the Auto Club of Orange county, accidents in Orange county are due to city chaps laying heavy feet on the throttle when they reach Orange county roads in order to make up time lost in traffic in the Angel city. This, he believes, is particularly true of residents of the big city starting out on week-end trips that carry them into or through Orange county.

Records of Coroner Brown reveal that a big percentage of those losing their lives here in 1923 were residents of the big city.

The traffic congestion situation as a cause for speeding on the Orange county highways, of course, does not hold good for Riverside, San Bernardino, Pomona, and other interior sections whose residents frequent Orange county coast or mountain points.

But those chaps are just as much possessed of the speed bug as the city drivers—and, in the final analysis, speeding is responsible for the deaths.

Tijuana Is Cited Is the combination of booze and Tijuana responsible for some of the accidents here? No doubt it is. And raising of the speed limit by the new motor vehicle act had any bearing on the situation? It has, in my opinion. Wet pavements and reckless driving have added their quotas to the total.

Orange county is on the route of many long trips—as between Los Angeles and San Diego, and between San Bernardino and Orange county beaches—and motor-

Be Ready With One Question

The one sensible question to ask when you have to buy a new battery is, "What will it cost me?" Not "What's the price?" but "What will it cost me?"

The cost of your battery before you get through with it—or, before it gets through with you—depends on three things: (1) The price. (2) How long it lasts. (3) What you have to pay for repairs to keep it on the job.

Even in the years when Exide sold at a higher price, it was recognized by experienced drivers as the most economical, because of its very long service and its freedom from repairs.

Now, with the price as low as others and the quality as high as ever, an Exide Battery is an economy that no automobile owner can afford to ignore.

ists always are keen to get to the end of their destination, whether it be going to or from home. Speeding results—and deaths follow speeding.

According to Coroner Brown, there has been only one or two deaths since Justice Cox established his new policy of sending to jail motorists driving at forty and forty-five miles an hour. The justice did not adopt that policy until near the close of the year, so his present campaign against speeders cannot be considered as really effective in 1923.

Cox reiterates Edict "As a beverage, water is a failure," said Judge Cox today. "As a prevention for speeding, administering fines is a failure."

"Placing speeders where they may see the inside of a jail is going to be the effective remedy. I have three years more to serve as justice of the peace of this township, and death by automobile accidents in Orange county will have decreased 50 per cent by the closing year of my administration of this office—for I am going to place the speeders behind the bars. Lack of respect for the law is responsible for the increase in the toll of human lives by operation of automobiles in Orange county."

Elmer Heidt, manager of the Santa Ana branch of the Auto Club of Southern California, ascribed the increase to good roads in Orange county—they induce speedings, he said. And then he added the open highways in the county, and the vast throngs that motor this way, increased the possibilities of accidents.

"Increased population in the Southland, many popular resorts in the county, heavy traffic and speeding—they tell the story of the cause of the report by Coroner Brown," said Heidt.

railroads to members of the association.

"We estimated that the dealers of this country in 1923 lost $105,000,000 on used cars," said Vane, "and that loss is represented only by the difference between the price at which the dealers bought the used cars and the sum for which they sold them, and does not take into consideration the sales, reconditioning and overhead expense."

"This year as a result of the

and in the number of vehicles operating on their highways, such a large increase in automobile deaths is not surprising.

Urges Common Sense
"Automobile traffic in this county has come to be one of the most serious problems with which we have to contend, and I know of no means of lessening fatalities resulting from automobile accidents until all the people become more fully aware of the danger attending all carelessness in the handling of automobiles, and of pedestrians taking unwarrantable chances in cross public thoroughfares."

"I believe that a more intelligent use of the faculties with which we are endowed would have a much greater tendency to reduce the number of traffic fatalities than any legislation that can be made."

"My experience shows that most of these deaths are due to lack of precaution, particularly on the part of pedestrians, and I have no hesitancy in saying that three-fourth of our automobile fatalities are caused by careless pedestrians. Most of these persons are advanced in years, but frequently they are small children who have not developed the faculty of precaution. Rarely do we have persons of mature years, between the ages of 20 and 50, as they seem to be better able to judge speed and distance and are more alert in their movements in the street."

"Old people who have never operated an automobile are unable to judge the speed or performance, and they seem to expect a driver to do the impossible in the way of stopping to permit them to pass in front of him. It appears that only bitter experience will teach these dear old people to be more careful of their safety in the streets, and I am afraid it is going to take a long time for them to learn how to avoid automobile accidents."

awakening to the peril involved in unbusinesslike methods of making used car purchases the dealers succeeded in getting their used car purchases at a figure $50,000,000 lower than paid for used cars last year.

"Few people realize the enormous burden imposed upon the dealer structure by the used car. 6,100,000 Transactions

"For example, 1923 new car production was approximately 2,760,000 motor vehicles. Probably 3,400,000 of this number were passenger cars, and eighty per cent of the new car deals handled involved the trade-in of a used car. In other words, the dealers handle 2,700,000 used cars in order to handle 3,400,000 new cars, a total of 6,100,000 passenger car transactions for the year."

"It is ostensible that dealers cannot handle 2,400,000 cars and suffer a loss of anywhere from $50 to $400 per car, (depending upon price class) and remain in business."

Dear Sirs:—

I have owned a Chandler Car since 1920. Since that time it has given me service which cannot be excelled. The motor, like the rest of the car, runs as well as when it was new, and the cost of operation during this time has been exceptionally low.

If it were necessary for me to buy another car, it would certainly be a Chandler.

Yours very truly,
J. H. Pankey.

THERE never was a car that stood so high in the regard of owners—none that offered at anywhere near its price such masterful performance qualities, and so definite an assurance of satisfactory, inexpensive operation over a period of years!

With the famous Pikes Peak Motor to conquer any hill; with the Traffic Transmission (Campbell patent) to eliminate all gear shifting troubles; and with Chandler standards of quality construction insuring long life, the Chandler stands absolutely alone and unchallenged for intrinsic value.

We are constrained to remind you that just six months ago, (July 1st, to be exact), Rickenbacker proclaimed to the world that, within a year, 4-Wheel Brakes would be universal.

Several makers openly took issue with us.

Not only was every effort made to discredit our assertion and discount the superiority of 4-Wheel Brakes, but to prove that Rickenbacker was wrong both in pioneering this great improvement, and in taking such a definite stand on the subject.

We were certain, however, that future events would prove the accuracy of our assertion.

We knew we were right—and feared not to go ahead.

Only six months later—January 5th to 12th—the New York Automobile Show was a sensational vindication of the Rickenbacker policy.

In almost every exhibit in that great show was an endorsement of Rickenbacker judgment—frank recognition of Rickenbacker leadership.

The evidence was so conclusive as to leave no room for doubt—4-Wheel Brakes have conquered apathetic prejudice and active opposition.

Not only have they proven necessary, but actually indispensable for safe driving in present-day traffic conditions.

Informed buyers now insist—and will continue more than ever to insist—that all four wheels be equipped with first-class brakes.

Eventually this insistence will be for fully enclosed, internal expanding brakes, too.

33—over 50%—makers exhibited cars in which 4-Wheel Brakes were an outstanding feature.

This was in response to insistent demands of buyers as expressed through salesmen and dealers.

The buyer, having once experienced the greater safety and efficiency of this fundamental improvement, said "I want that!"

And when an American buyer demands, the maker has no option—he must comply.

Today, the buyer is repeating those words so often and so emphatically, every maker must accede—or pay the penalty.

"Has this car 4-Wheel Brakes?"

That was the first question you heard when you stopped at any exhibit in the Auto Show.

And the next question generally was, "Are they internal expanding brakes mechanically operated?"

But, several other innovations and improvements that were emphasized by several makers as new in this show—but which you saw in the first Rickenbacker Six—also indicated the impress of this product on the entire industry.

12 Cars now boast "vibrationless motors." And it is interesting to note the several expedients applied in efforts to emulate the results of Rickenbacker's "Tandem Fly Wheel."

9 Cars emphasized "deeper frames"—though none as yet, approaches the eight (8") inch dimensions of the Rickenbacker "Double Depth" frame.

6 Cars showed springs set nearer the ends of the rear axle—nearer the point of contact between tire and road. This is one of the features of Rickenbacker "Cradle" spring suspension.

There are several other points, however, that are still to be found only in this car.

6 Cars have "Air Cleaners" of one kind or another—in emulation of Rickenbacker's provision for "protecting the lungs of the motor."

Fully 75% of all makers now feature steel disc wheels—first announced as standard on the first Rickenbacker Six.

5 Cars feature ball bearings in steering spindles—all of these are much higher priced cars than Rickenbacker, by the way.

5 Cars show the commutator located above motor, away from dirt, water and oil. This also you first saw in the Rickenbacker Six.

And yet—while "imitation is the sincerest form of flattery," and we heartily acknowledge the implied compliment—

We cannot but derive still more satisfaction from the fact that, while each of several have emulated Rickenbacker in one or two features, none so far, has combined all those superiorities in one product as you find them in the Rickenbacker Six.

Of course, everyone looked to this exhibit to sound the keynote for the new year.

Nor was any disappointed.

Rickenbacker ran true to form by setting a new standard of values with several refinements and the unprecedented equipment at the new price.

When you had visited this exhibit, the term "fully equipped" had acquired a new meaning.

For Rickenbacker showed, for the first time in the world's history, standard models at standard prices, so completely equipped as to leave the new owner "Nothing Else to Buy."

Rickenbacker models this year are equipped with all those safety devices and conveniences which the seasoned motorist considers essential, and for which, heretofore, you have paid extra.

Not only the customary speedometer, ammeter, voltmeter, pilot light, oil gauge and switch-lock on the instrument board;

But also transmission lock, Folberth wind-shield cleaner, combination vanity and smoking case, motor meter, motor meter wings, motor meter lock, shock absorbers and bumpers, both front and rear.

The open models—Sport Phaeton and Sport Roadster—also have beveled plate-glass wind wings.

All models are equipped with drum tire-covers with lettered warning "4-Wheel Brakes," which is for the benefit of the man behind, and which never fails to give the Rickenbacker man right of way. This is Rickenbacker's interpretation of the term "fully equipped" as exemplified in these latest models.

Here is established not only a new standard of values, but a new code of business ethics.

For the first time, you saw an automobile in which the customer's needs and desires were considered paramount.

This is another Rickenbacker departure from former rules that will revolutionize sales practice.

"Nothing Else to Buy" is today the exclusive slogan of the Rickenbacker salesman—even as "4-Wheel Brakes" was his clarion cry six months ago.

Buyers will no longer accept as "fully equipped" a car that lacks any essential for ideal driving under any conditions of weather or traffic congestion.

Having seen the new Rickenbacker models; having yourself experienced the wonderful performance of the 4-Wheel Brakes, the luxury of a vibrationless motor, and the thrill of handling this car;

Having seen what constitutes "complete equipment" according to the new Rickenbacker standard;

And when you consider that all this is included in the new "delivered" price, you will be at a loss to understand how it is possible to produce so much for so little money.

We hope you will see all the others before you see the Rickenbacker—for only by direct comparison can you appreciate the amazing difference in quality, performance and value.

For, none other shows the same startling acceleration coupled with equally surprising deceleration.

None other possesses "vim, vigor and vitality" to compare with this world-famous Rickenbacker Six.

None other can perform so sensationally and yet prove as sturdy and durable in everyday hard service.

In those qualities that lend a thrill as well as luxury to motoring, this Rickenbacker Six is still supreme.

In advanced engineering, Rickenbacker is the outstanding leader. In style, the fashion plate. In Pride of Ownership—unique.

San Diego-Fullerton game to-night.

Completely outplayed in the last half when they were able to score one point on a foul throw, the Santa Ana high school basketball quintette suffered defeat, 29 to 11, at the hands of the Long Beach high school five in the opening contest of the Tri-County league yesterday afternoon. The contest was played in the Long Beach gymnasium.

Coach Ed Covington's men, deprived at the last minute of the services of their two crack guards, Jack Davis and Gordon Middlebrook, put up a plucky fight throughout the first half but were unable to cope with the great offensive work of the Beachcombers in the last two periods.

It was the defensive work of the Long Beach team, however, that made Santa Ana look bad in the last half. The locals seldom were able to get the ball within range of the hoops and as a result were forced to resort to long shots.

Santa Ana scored first when Bowe, who moved from forward to guard because of Davis' disqualification, tossed a beautiful basket from near the center of the court. The home team soon passed the locals and were leading at the close of the quarter, 6 to 5. At the half they were in front, 15 to 10, and at the close of the third period, 21 to 10.

Graves at forward for the visitors made thirteen points. Knox was the main cog in the Whittier squad.

DISQUALIFY MOLLA FOR OLYMPIC PLAY

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Seven times American champion and the third best woman tennis player in the world, Mrs. Molla Mallory will not be allowed to play in the Olympic tennis matches because she got married.

Final decision of the international Olympic committee that the rules cannot be waived to permit her entry on the American tennis team has been received by the American Olympic committee. The international rules provide that once an athlete has competed for one nation he cannot play for another.

Mrs. Mallory, then Miss Molla Bjurstedt, played for Norway, her native country, in the 1912 Olympic games and on this technicality the appeal made to have her made eligible for the American team was denied.

The rules also provide that to compete for a nation an athlete must be a citizen of that country and this rule bars Mrs. Mallory from playing again for Norway.

Culver City Race Track Doomed As Club Is Bankrupt

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 19.—The Southern California Jockey club, which built a track at Culver City and started a 100-day meet, has come to a painful expiration.

There is still a possibility that it may be revived, however, but it will have to be by court order. An involuntary petition of bankruptcy was on file in federal court today against the club, while the petitioners express the optimistic belief that the track could be made a success if they should be permitted to run it.

POLY CLASS B FIVE TRIMS LONG BEACH

Coach Ray Adkinson's Santa Ana high school Class B basketball team yesterday afternoon won its first league collision from the Long Beach high school men of the same division by the score of 21 to 13. The affair was played at the Poly courts.

Romo, clever Poly forward, was the individual star of the fray. He scored fourteen points all by his lonesome. The lineup:

Spencer, running guard, featured the fray for the local five, caging seven field goals and five free throws for a total of nineteen points. Fink, forward and Tustin captain led his team-mates in the scoring department with six points.

HAYERS, OCKENDEN DEFEAT L. B. PAIR

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 19.—Arthur Hayers, British open champion, and James Ockenden, French open title holder, having defeated George Kerrigan and Dick Linares, Virginia Country club professionals, at Long Beach 3 and 2, will compete at Santa Barbara today in another exhibition match.

At Santa Barbara Gene Sarazen will pair for 18 holes each with Ernie and George Martin against Hayers and Ockenden.

The Long Beach match was the first the British golfers have won since coming to California.

MEYER DARK HORSE IN RACE TOMORROW

Californian Shows Burst of Speed In Workout
With De Palma

A California youngster, Eddie Meyer of Redlands, A. A. A. record holder for all dirt track marks from one to ten miles, threw a bomb into the speed camp today when the dare-devils were in the midst of their afternoon's setting-up exercises preparatory to cutting the big cash prize melon in tomorrow's races scheduled for the opening of the Ascot race track, Los Angeles, tomorrow.

Ralph DePalma, Fred Horey, Jimmy Graft, Fuzzy Davidson, Jack Smith and a lot of the Eastern dirt track stars never gave Meyer serious thought. But about the time that Eddie unwound his little car at Ascot and passed the entire bunch of drivers working out at high speed, the railbirds knew that something was in the air.

DePalma permitted Horey to chase Meyer for ten laps, and finding that the St. Paul man could not overtake the Redlands boys began driving the steeply-banked turns as though there was a million dollar purse at the end of the drive. But the speedy Italian could not do any better than Horey. George Rentel enjoyed the fun for a while until a bad skid threatened DePalma's equilibrium. Then the boss of Ascot had Starter Eddie Pullen call a halt.

Many speed fans and old-timers were in attendance. Earl Cooper and Eddie Pullen fraternized and talked of the old Ascot days when the pair drew crowds to the old course. The grandstand is not only completed, but has received a coat of paint. Nothing now remains uncompleted but the placing of the steel guard around the entire outer edge of the track.

Billy Evans SAYS

It seems to be baseball tradition that southpaws as a rule are much wilder than right handers as they break into the major leagues. During my career as an American league umpire, covering a period of 18 years, I have worked back of many a wild and woolly recruit, but I seriously doubt if any of them had a thing on Southpaw Harry Harper, who made his big league debut with Washington. Later he was with the New York Yankees and then Brooklyn in the National league. He recently passed out of the big show.

Harper had a world of stuff, but lacked control. The first time I saw him I felt he was a second Rube Waddell in the making. Inability to get the ball over caused him to remain an uncertainty throughout his entire big league career.

The peculiar thing about Harper was that every now and then he would turn in a perfectly pitched game, which of course would cause you to believe he had overcome his one great fault. Then he would immediately fall back into his old ways. After going along with Harper for some time, Washington decided to send him up to Minneapolis for further seasoning under the direction of Billy Sullivan, former White Sox catching star, who was backstopping for the Millers.

Players and fans in the American association that year will probably never forget the pitching stunts that Harper pulled. It got to be a saying that Harper either strikes 'em out or gives a base on balls.

HARRY GREB STILL MIDDLEWEIGHT KING

Johnny Wilson Blows Up In
7th and Champ Takes
Bout Rest of Way

BY HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Blowing up like a frightened rookie pitcher in the seventh round, Johnny Wilson tossed away a four to two lead in Madison Square Garden last night and Harry Greb retained his title as middleweight champion of the world.

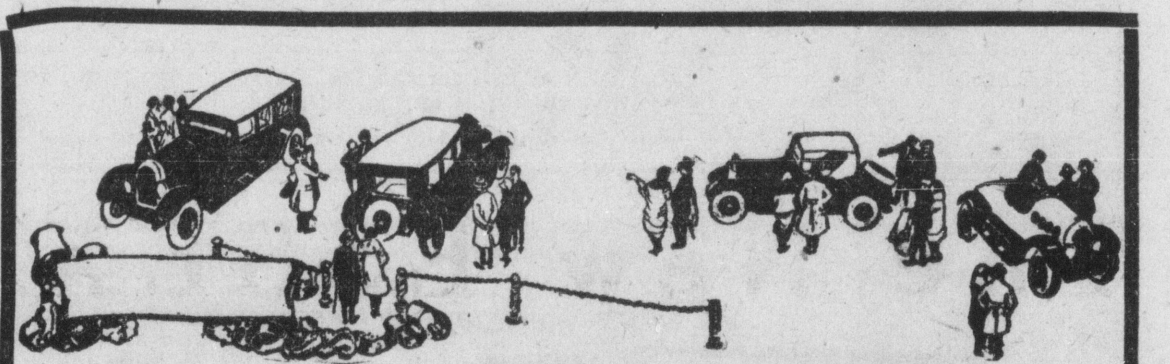

Mindful of some things said about judging in New York, Greb stepped out when Wilson blew up and he piled up such a margin on points that the judges couldn't possibly have made a mistake.

Many of the crowd of 11,000 that paid more than $50,000 to see the fight, trickled out from the thirteenth round on and took it for granted that Greb would win the decision.

Up to the seventh round Wilson looked like a sure winner. He seemed to have solved the erratic style of the champion and his terrific left hand punches to the body had Greb winded, tired, sick and in danger of being stopped.

Wilson, fighting southpaw style with his right hand extended, for six rounds slapped down Greb's extended left hand and stepped inside his guard with left hand hooks that went deep into the champion's stomach. Greb showed the effects of the beating and his seconds worked on him desperately in the fifth round.

Then in the seventh round, just like a bush league southpaw pitcher, Wilson for some reason hard to explain started stepping back instead of going in as he had been doing. He lost control and Greb went after his body.

speedometer, he drove his new car to Big Bear Valley, by way of Victorville, with the motor-meter registering less than summer heat when the summit was reached. And the motorcycle officer added that the car averaged twenty-one miles to the gallon of gasoline on the run between Santa Ana and Victorville. On the grades, the mileage was reduced some, he said.

Has Twin Carburetor
The gasoline record, Townsend said, undoubtedly was due to the fact that Myers had equipped his car with a twin carburetor, the product of the local shop of the Townsend motor company. It was a development of H. B. Jolly, shop foreman, and has been used by Jolly on racing cars in Arizona, according to Townsend.

"Yes, sir! I am satisfied with and believe in my Hudson," said Myers today. "Except in the $4,000 and $5,000 price class, no better car is made than the Hudson—and my car cost me only $1751."

Townsend announced today that his company was expecting the arrival here next week of a carload of the 1924 five-passenger Hudson sedans. The model has never been shown here. According to Townsend, the new machines hang lower and there is more room than in the present models.

NEW MAXWELL ENGINE NOW ON SPRING

Following several months of increased experimentation by the Maxwell Motor Sales corporation with a device for eliminating vibration from motors in Maxwell cars, Christian Brothers, local distributors, today made first announcement of the arrival here of machines with the new device.

According to Frank Christian, the trick has been accomplished by mounting the front of the engine on a spring.

"The device is exclusively Maxwell," said Christian. "It is simplicity itself. Instead of the engine being bolted to the chassis frame, the ingeniously designed free mounting literally floats the front end of the engine in the frame. The floating engine mounting prevents the chassis from tuning in at some point of what engineers call the vibratory period. The result is that those riding in the car feel no vibration—only the smooth steady pull of the engine's power—with an entire absence of the rumble which until now has been typical of closed cars."

URGES REALTORS TO ANALYZE SITUATION

Analysis of present real estate conditions with regard to possibilities of the future was urged made by Santa Ana realtors when W. E. Herren, field secretary of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, spoke at the meeting, at Ketter's cafe yesterday, of the Santa Ana Board of Realtors.

Stating that Southern California, in particular, was experiencing healthy activity in real estate, the field secretary told realtors that they should exercise care in placing valuations.

Having visited hundreds of boards in the United States in the past six months, Herren recited observations of some of the boards and imparted many suggestions by which he said the local board would profit in its service to the general public.

Herren was accompanied to Santa Ana by Glenn Willaman, secretary of the California Real Estate association, and by the latter's sister, Miss Edith Willaman, who is visiting from Ohio.

J. Wiley Harris, elected president of the local board last week, presided. W. B. Martin, the new secretary, also officiated in that capacity yesterday for the first time.

URNS ELECTRICAL SAMPLE CAR INTO AMBULANCE HERE. TO ASSIST WOMAN INJURED

Electrical sample room, mounted on Graham chassis, which yesterday was converted into an ambulance to bring Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Daley of Banning to the Community hospital here, for treatment for injuries received when their car skidded and turned over on the Sulphur Slide grade, in Santa Ana canyon.

B. J. Myers, special representative of the Peerless Light company of Chicago, today was circulating among electrical dealers in Santa Ana, following his arrival here yesterday.

His visit is of interest by reason of the fact that he is traveling in an automobile built especially for display of samples of the products of the company he represents and bringing factory samples to the doors of dealers.

Coming down from Corona yesterday, he converted his sample room into an emergency hospital, when, in coming down the Sulphur Slide grade in Santa Ana canyon, he came upon the wrecked car of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Daley of Banning, who were en route to San Diego. Assisting others in raising the car off the forms of Mr. and Mrs. Daley, Myers placed the injured persons in his car and brought them to the Community hospital here. Mrs. Daley was made comfortable on a cot, and Daley was given a comfortable position on the front seat.

Mrs. Daley suffered a fracture of her right shoulder and will remain at the hospital several days. Mr. Daley was not badly hurt. M. H. Monteith of Banning, who was traveling with the Daleys' also escaped injury.

Myers left Chicago September 5, coming to California over the Santa Fe trail and will return by the northern route. While here he

MARY PICKFORD
STAR OF FILM
AT LAGUNACastle Is Erected to Aid
In Shooting Scenes In
"Dorothy Vernon"

LAGUNA BEACH, Jan. 19.—Preparations are about completed for the scene of "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall" the Mary Pickford picture which has Laguna Beach as a local for several scenes. The production is under the direction of Marshall Neilan and has Miss Pickford in the star role with George Walsh in the male support.

Some twenty workmen of the Pickford Company have been at the Laguna Beach Villa for the past three weeks and these men are busy on the construction of an elaborate set depicting the exterior of an old castle on the cliffs overlooking the ocean.

The set was completed a few days ago and the company is waiting for a propitious tide before attempting the shots. The time set for taking the scenes depends entirely on the tide as the morning light is desired and the tide must be high at that hour also. It is anticipated that Miss Pickford and a few members of her cast will arrive at the beach the first of next week and many interested folks from other cities will come down to see "America's Sweetheart" in working scenes.

NEW SYNDICATE IS FORMED AT NEWPORT

COSTA MESA, Jan. 19.—That the development of the harbor district is drawing outside capital to this section is evidenced by the recent purchase of 115 acres of a portion of the old Banning tract, and a part of which shortly will be subdivided and placed on the market.

The Costa Mesa Terrace Syndicate has been formed and at a meeting held today in the First National bank building of Newport, the interests present represented more than $500,000 in wealth. Among the firms interested are the Wilson Willard company, oil supply men of Los Angeles; Moreland & Long, manufacturers of steel castings, Los Angeles; Wolman Brothers Steel company, Los Angeles; A. J. Crookshank and Edward Farnsworth, Santa Ana bankers, Sam Jernigan, Orange county sheriff, and others.

The acreage lies west of Fairview avenue on 19th street and is on high ground, part of which overlooks the ocean. It contains good soil and is said to be the most advantageous site for homes on the mesa. The county engineer is grading 19th street, while Wells & Bressler have the contract for oiling the streets on the tract, while water mains will be extended to each lot. About $15,000 is being expended in improvements.

Exclusive selling agents of the tract are Law H. Wallace, H. H. Williamson and E. A. Spaulding, but many realtors of the harbor district and county will sell through their own offices. The first subdivision will comprise 40 acres, bordering on 19th street.

This land has been owned by the Banning estate for years and is some of their best as a portion of it includes the old home place, where their corals, buildings and houses were located. The cutting up of this vast domain marks but another step in the progress and development of Orange county brought about through the county's harbor activity, thus making possible higher valuations and more taxable wealth for the county.

Primary Pupils At Beach Offer
Program For Club

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Jan. 19.—Pupils of the primary department of the local grammar school, under the direction of Miss Irene Looze, were the main attraction on the program of the Rotary club meeting held here yesterday noon. R. L. Obar was the chairman of the day.

Members of the Rotary club were called upon for their views on Rotary and its principles. The children of the primary department sang several songs for the club.

Elmer Jahraus, Joe Skidmore, of Laguna Beach, Dr. F. E. Wilson, Dr. Archer, R. J. Prescott, and Mr. Richardson of this city were the guests of the club at the luncheon.

ANOTHER DROP
IS RECORDED IN FIELD

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Jan. 19.—The daily production of the field is 59,569 barrels, compared to last week when it was 61,892 barrels, a decline of 2,323 barrels. The average per well is 201 barrels as to last week's report of 209 barrels, a loss of eight barrels per well for the week.

The Globe Petroleum company re-drill Encyclopedia No. 1, which was first placed on production August 8, 1922, and produced oil for several months, until the oil string collapsed, which caused a re-drilling job and also drilling deeper. The well was swabbed for several days, but failed to flow, so was placed on the pump, now producing 150 barrels of 24 gravity oil.

The second one of the new wells is Fred B. Foster Exploration No. 5, which was completed at 4600 feet. The well is pumping 125 barrels of about 20 gravity oil. The well is located on Garfield street and is offset well to the Holly Oil company No. 3 on the south and Republic Producers No. 7 on the east.

NEWS NOTS FROM
LAGUNA'S ARTISTS

LAGUNA BEACH, Jan. 19.—One of the most prominent of Laguna Beach artists, Joseph Kleitsch, is showing a group of western paintings at his one-man show at Aurora, Ill., this month. It will be remembered that Aurora holds the record in the entire country, for the number and value of its sales of works of art from the different exhibitions. So it will not be surprising if the whole collection of Kleitsch's canvases find a buyer in that art loving community. One of the members of the Association of Artists, Captain Harold, has a large private collection to which Kleitsch's "Arch Beach Rocks" has been added.

Mr. Kleitsch is exhibiting a group of paintings assembled from all over the world at the Ebell club in Los Angeles during the present month. This group includes "In My Studio," which took first prize and the grand prize in the fourth annual exhibition of the Laguna Beach Art association. A special luncheon was arranged by Mrs. George W. McCoy of the Ebell club with Mr. and Mrs. Kleitsch as honor guests on the Ninth of January.

Mrs. Harriet R. Talbot of Burlington, Iowa, member of the art association of her home city, was a Laguna Beach visitor Friday. Mrs. Talbot appreciates the artistic environment of the beach and is looking forward to the possibility of returning next year for a season of active work here.

Mrs. A. E. Witte of Portland, Ore., one of the artistic members of the Northern Cities art group, is spending the winter with her son, R. G. Witte of Fullerton.

H. Van B. Altman, descendant of the Van Briggle pottery people, and a resident of Laguna Beach, lectured before the Art students of the Pomona College on Thursday, January 17. The subject was, "The Art and Craft of Pottery."

THIS KIDDIE HAS 500 BIRDS FOR
PLAYFELLOWS AT COSTA MESA FARM

BY "SARGE CLARK."
COSTA MESA, Jan. 19.

"Awrk! Awrk! Awrk!"
"Quack! Quack! Quack!"

"Twee-tweet! Twee-tweet, trill, twee-tweet!"

A babel of voices from feathered throats, some sweet, some raucous, some soothing, was my introduction to what seemed drab at first sight but which later proved to be the most interesting place I have seen in Southern California—the Rare Bird Farm of Costa Mesa.

As I started back toward a long array of wire cages, each having a neat palm house and holding birds of all colors, shapes and varieties, most of which were out to the front looking anxiously at a neat California bungalow, a man and his wife emerged. The voices suddenly ceased and I introduced myself.

Then came a call that came to me clearly and distinctly as a bell: "Come back here! Come back here! Come back here!"

The admonition came from a house of pretty quail, all sounding the peculiar call heard in the California valleys.

Man and Wife Conduct Farm.

We needed it, and for over two hours, I roamed from one end of the world to another as I met and became acquainted with rare birds from all over the globe, the while being conducted on my travels by the Southland's two best posted authorities on bird life, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy H. Channess, proprietors of the farm.

The story of how these two bird loving young persons came to enter their present unique and profitable business is interesting.

Channess used to tinker Fords and automobiles, having a garage. He and his wife had always loved birds, and finally, a male canary was presented them. Mrs. Channess got a female and pretty soon, five little singers came. She quickly sold them, and could have sold more. That gave them an idea, and into the rare bird business they went. Today, they are known far and wide, and import hundreds of birds from all over the world for a host of customers from Canada to Mexico.

The best varieties of rare birds come from India, Africa and Australia, the latter being the best spot on earth for them. The finest song birds come from the St. Andrewsberg section of Germany. These canaries are trained two years and are wonderful singers when they reach this country. Annually, Channess imports from 500 to 700 of them, while his business in domestic canaries is large.

There is not anything in the bird or fish line Channess won't have in time—just now, he has only 500 different varieties of rare birds and the largest goldfish breeding farm on this coast. Hundreds of tiny birds fly happily around in light, airy special cages, each one singing his best. Channess turned loose the strawberry finch and parakeet cage, and I thought a storm had struck me from the whirl of wings.

Golden Pheasants Too Common.

Here were ring neck, fancy, Chinese, Mongolian, Reeves, Swinhoe, Lady Amherst and Japanese variety pheasants. Talk about beautiful, harmonious colorings, no artist living can duplicate—not even a parrot—that adorning these glorious aristocrats of the bird world. Most varieties come from China with the exception of the Reeves, Swinhoe and Japanese breeds, natives of Tibet, India and Japan, respectively.

"Where's the Golden pheasant?" I queried.

"Don't carry 'em—too common," he replied. Hot dog! News to me

I supposed a Golden pheasant was some pumpkin!

Now, I think the Reeves breed takes all prizes for beauty—the bird I saw had a tail six feet long, and words fail me when it comes to describing its coloring.

Learned some more about pheasants, too. It's a secret, but I'll tell you if you won't repeat it—the movie actors and actresses buy a lot of them to eat. Me for the fillum!

Next came a whole army of cute little quail from California and Mexico. By the way, Channess breeds more rare quail than any other person in the bird business.

Doves? You betcha—all kinds of them—big luscious ones and fifty little dwarfs. Lots of wood and green and blue wing teal, of course.

P. E. TO BUILD
NEW BRIDGE
NEAR H. B.

Regular Service to Be Resumed After Span Is Installed

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Jan. 19.—The Pacific Electric Company will build a steel and concrete bridge across the Santa Ana river and will begin operating the electric line between Huntington Beach and Santa Ana. Material for the bridge has been purchased and is on the way and actual construction on the bridge will begin as soon as the material arrives.

Sam Talbot of Talbot, as well as the plant at Santa Ana, indicates that there will be considerable beet hauling for the Pacific Electric line between here and Santa Ana.

Also there is an increased farm business in the territory tributary to the Pacific Electric line, as compared with the business of two years ago. Officials of the Pacific Electric gave weight to the freight business in reaching their decision to repair the line by the building of the new bridge.

The cost of the bridge has not been announced but it will be a steel structure on concrete piers and one of the finest and most substantial bridges that can be constructed, capable of withstanding any flood that has ever been experienced in the Santa Ana river. It will be similar in type of construction to the steel and concrete bridge the Pacific Electric completed last year between Long Beach and Los Angeles.

Maintain Regular Service

There will be maintained a regular passenger service between Huntington Beach and Santa Ana, the schedule of which has not been announced. Formerly at the time the bridge went out there was only one daily train each way between the two cities. It is reported that this schedule will be increased when the new bridge is completed, but local officials of the Pacific Electric state that they have not been informed as to the details of the plans for passenger service.

The completion of the bridge and the reopening of the Pacific Electric to freight and passenger express business, however, will be of considerable interest in Huntington Beach and Santa Ana business circles and will be of commercial advantage to both cities.

Oh, take a drive some day to the spot and see the wonders, and better still, send in an order for what you want in the bird or gold fish line—the editor has just holed out.

"For the love of Pete, waddu you think you're writin'—a magazine story? Make it snappy, kid."

OPEN SESSION
OF COOLIDGE
CLUB SET

Anaheim Men Ask Boosters For President to Meet There January 15

ANAHEIM, Jan. 19.—Judge J. S. Howard of this city today extended a cordial invitation to Coolidge club members from all sections of Orange county to attend an open meeting of the Anaheim Coolidge club in the Elks club here next Tuesday night.

Among those invited by Judge Howard were representatives of the Santa Ana, Orange, Fullerton, La Habra, Anaheim and Huntington Beach Coolidge clubs. These include J. S. Smart, president, and Mrs. E. E. Remsburg, Santa Ana, and sister of the late president, Warren G. Harding. Mrs. Remsburg is first vice president of the recently formed Coolidge club of Santa Ana.

Coolidge Praised

"At this meeting," said Judge Howard, "we will discuss ways and means for furthering the interests of our great president, in order to keep him in the White House. He is the best man for the job and California should lose no time in letting the country know that we are behind him."

"This presidential year finds a peculiar situation existing in national politics. Instead of a presidential boom starting in the east, it is actually starting in the west for an eastern man. That man is Calvin Coolidge."

Says Wave Not to Abate

"This great rising tide of Republicanism will not abate until, crossing the Rockies and the magnificent and fertile areas of the Mississippi, it finds its way to New York, the Empire state, and old New England itself."

"When that wave recedes it will leave in the presidential chair Calvin Coolidge, the strongest candidate we have had in many years."

FAMED FILM COMING

"The Covered Wagon" to Begin Five-Day Engagement at Temple Thursday

American history and world history is replete with striking evidence of our gallantry and heroism in conflict; whenever called on to bear the brunt of battle and make the sacrifice for the betterment of ideals and humanity in general, the United States, as a people, has never been lacking on found wanting. But a greater side of our life—the struggle of a nation with itself—has been sung but little. It remained for the late Emerson Hough to immortalize this feature of American advancement and development and he did so in the master story, "The Covered Wagon." But the master pen of Hough has been driven to greater heights of enthralling appeal in the marvelous motion picture that has been made from his great story. The mighty and supremely superior screen version of "The Covered Wagon" will be seen at the Temple theater here for five days, matinee and night, beginning Thursday, January 24.

Having defended ourselves against foreign aggression and even before there was waged the mightiest struggle in history—a struggle that this nation dedicated to liberty and the equality of mankind might last and be preserved—there occurred the most striking struggle in our history and among the histories of all people of all times. The call for interior development and expansion came and was answered in the closing frontier. The motion picture has made it all the more vivid and Americans have something of which they can truly feel proud. Each player in this picture of a century was particularly chosen with a view to his or her fitness. Among them will be found J. Warren Kerrigan, Lois Wilson, Ernest Torrence, Tully Marshall and Ethel Wales.

"COURTSHIP OF MILES STANDISH" OPENS TOMORROW
 When Charles Ray decided to make an elaborate and complete picture production of "The Courtship of Miles Standish" and would have much use for an exact reproduction of the Original and historic Mayflower, the boat which brought over the illustrious Pilgrims in 1620, he declared that nothing would be spared in constructing an exact counterpart.

The cost of the modern Mayflower approximates $65,000. This would not be a heavy sum for a deep-sea vessel, but for a motion picture set it is without a parallel for anything of its dimensions. This is because the hull of the Mayflower is built entirely of structural steel and it marks the advent in the film world of the first all-steel scenic structure.

"The Courtship of Miles Standish" opens an extended engagement at the West End tomorrow.

"TO THE LADIES" SHOWS ON TEMPLE SCREEN

As a three-act domestic comedy, "To the Ladies," received unusually favorable mention from newspaper critics, and even greater possibilities are afforded the screen version of the story, which shows at the Temple three days more.

It is predicted that "To the Ladies" will more than measure up to the high quality standard set for Paramount pictures under the policy of limiting productions to fifty-two a year.

Edward Horton, Theodore Roberts, Helen Jerome Eddy and Louise Dresser are featured players in the cast.

"MEN IN THE RAW" AT PRINCESS SUNDAY

Jack Hoxie, star of "Men in the Raw," new Western play, featuring the famous riding star in some of the most thrilling feats in his dashing career, will be seen beginning Sunday at the Princess. Hoxie is a hard-riding, hard-fighting cowpuncher in a series of thrilling episodes. The sensational feat of bulldozing a steer, a remarkable plunge down a high cliff, and other thrilling incidents mark the swift progress of the new play.

SOCIETY DRAMA FILM OPENS AT PRINCESS TUESDAY

The beautiful, irresponsible wife who would rather spend her husband's income in gambling, drinking and dancing with other women's husbands than trying to help and inspire her own husband surely gets a wallop in "Daytime Wives," the great society drama which comes to the Princess theater starting Tuesday. "Daytime Wives," while containing a great love story, shows the dangerous, luxury loving, irresponsible wife as one of the greatest menaces to the progress of America.

GLENN HUNTER FILM CLOSES AT YOST TONIGHT

The cast of "West of the Water Tower," which closes at the Yost theater tonight, includes Glenn Hunter in the stellar role, with Ernest Torrence, May McAvoy, George Fawcett and Zasu Pitts featured in support. Among the others are Charles Abbe, Anne Schaeffer, Riley Hatch, Allen Baker, Jack Terry and Edward Elkus.

BURT EARLE ROAD SHOW AT YOST TOMORROW

The Burt Earle road show, headed by Burt Earle himself, an artist of international repute, will be at the Yost theater tomorrow only.

Burt Earle is considered one of the finest band players in the world and a humorous monologist, who never fails to amuse his audience. His one stunt of the "talking banjo" in which he describes a marriage and the husband coming home some time later "after a wife," imitates the voices of the wife, the husband, and the mother-in-law, on the banjo, must be seen and heard to be believed, what a scream of laughter this is.

With the coming in fashion of thousands of men bands and orchestras, playing popular and dance music, Earle conceived the idea of a girl orchestra, and gathered around him eight pretty, young college girls, who had a fine musical training on different musical instruments, and first took this band over the Keith, Orpheum, and Pantages vaudeville circuits.

"A BILL OF DIVORCEMENT" AT YOST MONDAY

A breathless dramatic moment in "A Bill of Divorcement," which presents Miss Constance Binney, is the scene in which Miss Binney as the daughter who has never known her father, sees him for the first time. All her life he has been incarcerated in an asylum as an incurable. Then he is strangely cured, escapes and comes home. Miss Binney will bring "A Bill of Divorcement" to the Yost theater Monday.

"MAN AND WIFE" DUE AT YOST TOMORROW

One of the most promising of the younger screen players and one who has come far to the front in little more than a year is Norma Shearer, a winsome Canadian girl, who less than eighteen months ago was more concerned over what her teacher would say if she didn't know her lesson at a Montreal high school, than she ever has been since with the grumpiest of "movie" directors.

Her newest and most important engagement brought her into the cast of "Man and Wife," in which she appears with Gladys Leslie, Robert Elliott, Maurice Costello, Ernest Hilliard and Edna May Spooner. It will be shown at the Yost theater Sunday.

"SOFT BOILED" CLOSING AT WEST END TONIGHT

Tom Mix catapulted his debonair and fearless screen self into the West End theater last night in a new production, "Soft Boiled," which was splendidly directed by J. G. Blystone from an original comedy-drama by him.

With Billie Dove moving through the picture with bewitching charm and plenty of pretty girls to enliven and make unusual the cabaret scenes, Tom Mix has plenty of pulchritudinous support which is guaranteed to delight the most critical.

The supporting cast includes in addition to Billie Dove, feminine lead, and L. C. Shumway, heavy, Joseph Gerard and Tom Wilson.

The Great American Epic

You live through the perilous adventures of the Pilgrim Fathers. You journey with them on the historic Mayflower. You live through one of the most awe-inspiring sea storms ever brought to the screen. You are present at the signing of the Mayflower Compact, the first expression of the American conception of union. You live through struggles and battles with the Indians, and you smoke the Pipe of Peace with their chieftain.

You are present at the felling of the first trees—and at the first wash day, and America's first Thanksgiving.

And America's first and sweetest romance—the immortal love story of John Alden and Priscilla Mullins.

Epoch making narrative picture teems with adventure, history, suspense, thrills and romance.

PAY YOUR BILLS DAY

Credit and charge accounts were originated for the convenience of the buying public, and not for the purpose of enabling that public to live outside its income, numerous examples to the contrary notwithstanding. Credit is an asset when properly used. Abused, it becomes a heavy liability that is hard to face. It is a convenience, an accommodation, and so long as it is protected it not only permits the purchasing of goods without ready cash, but it means that a reputation for prompt payments precedes and endorses the buyer in each new business connection. As part of the National Thrift Week program, fostered by the National Thrift Committee of the Y. M. C. A., today has been designated Pay Your Bills Promptly Day, by way of reminder of the wisdom of living up to one's obligations. The movement will be welcomed by "the butcher, the baker, the candlestick-maker" and will receive co-operation from those many individuals who have a mind to business success. Good credit is insurance against times you may feel real need of it. Pay Your Bills Promptly is sound advice, in Santa Ana as well as everywhere else in the country.

DOCTORING FOREIGN FINANCE

The American members of the international committee appointed to study German finances and suggest a practical reparations program have met with a very favorable reception abroad. The committee is settling down to work this week, in an atmosphere which is described as "more favorable than at any time since the signing of the peace treaty." The failure of all previous plans of settlement has made European governments humble, especially the German and French governments, the two most directly concerned. Germans who acquiesced cheerfully in a program of inflation that destroyed their currency and credit, in order to dodge payment—and some of the Germans, at least, appear to have done so—realize that they overshot the mark. All German expedients either for paying reparations or for sustaining German business and keeping industry alive have failed. So the German government and public are in a rarely tractable mood.

The French government and public are almost as much so, lately, because of the menace of bankruptcy overhanging their country, despite its superficial prosperity. The franc has fallen to its lowest point in history, because of continued military expenditures and the drying up of reparations payments. There is a growing realization that Poincaré's policy of bluster and force has failed, and that economic facts have to be reckoned with and some kind of working agreement patched up with Germany if both countries are not to go down in ruin together.

The American representatives, applying to the situation disinterested minds, sympathetic hearts and sound business sense, may control the findings of that committee and exert a big influence for the salvation of Europe, with big indirect benefits to America.

THE BUILDING OUTLOOK

The national building outlook for the year, according to builders in various cities, is good. The demand for homes, office buildings and other structures continues as great as ever, and it may be years before the "saturation point" is reached. No frenzied boom is expected, but the country will probably absorb all the building materials and labor available, at prices somewhere around those of last year. There is ample money for financing, in most sections.

"Negotiations with the trades unions have started," reports a representative of the builders in a typical city, "and there was never a time when labor leaders showed more tendency to co-operation. There will be no serious tie-up, because labor doesn't want a fight any more than we do."

He adds, however: "Production remains our big problem. What shall it profit a contractor to hire all the labor in the world, if it fails to work?"

It is the view of builders generally that this is the big drag on the industry at present—workmen, in general, do not expect to do anywhere near as much work in a day as they used to, and as they could do without hardship, though they are better paid than ever before. This is the biggest factor in big cities especially in making building so costly. It keeps up rents and makes it harder for people generally—most of them workmen—to own their own homes.

The Precocious Child

Stockton Independent
The sad plight of William J. Sidis, who at the age of 7 years passed the Harvard medical school examination in anatomy, at 18 was an instructor in mathematics at Rice Institute and now at 26 is a melancholic individual earning a paltry income as a clerk "because he does not want to do anything whereby he would use his brain," is only an extreme example of the failure of precocity to fulfill early expectations. Those, who as children were bright and learned without effort, more times than not gain less distinction in later life than those who might be termed "dull" but are willing to apply themselves diligently. Youngsters with highly impressionable minds can easily learn and recite book knowledge, but in so doing, while they may be at the head of their classes are not developing mental power to solve problems which are not answered in books. The so-called "dull" student, unable quickly to grasp such things, must on the other hand learn to study and is really giving his brains greater development than his more impressionable mates.

School teachers will vouch for much of this, for they have so often seen grammar school or high school prodigies fall into minor positions of routine work while the alleged "dull" pupil has become a business or professional success, because he has learned how to use his mental faculties for other purposes than memorizing and reciting. That may be why the prodigy sometimes remarks there is no place in this world for those who have brains.

There may be another explanation of the frequent failure of these mental prodigies. It is a widely-recognized fact that boys of the age of development, who devote too much time to athletics "burn out" physically, sometimes incurring serious maladies of the body which either greatly hamper or sometimes wholly incapacitate them.

The mind, in many respects is physical. It knows fatigue, it knows overwork, and exhilaration after rest the same as the body. Is it not probable that these prodigies "burn out" mentally through over-concentration, particularly if they do not devote a certain amount of their time to physical or other forms of recreation? This, rather than the first theory, may be more applicable to the case of Sidis, because it is to be agreed he at one time showed extraordinary mental powers.

The Greatest Drama

Stockton Independent
W. L. George, the English novelist, seems to think more highly of this country than some of his visiting fellow-countrymen—Zangwill, for example, whose recent criticisms have raised a storm of protest. Mr. George likes America and likes its literature. The latter, he says, particularly in the form of the novel, is good because it accurately portrays American life.

But American life itself, he says, is "the greatest play that has ever been staged."

And isn't that the truth? Our people today are living the biggest, most vital drama of the present-day world.

The idea, however, is not so new as it may sound. Long ago an English poet wrote the famous lines: "Westward the course of empire takes its way. The first four acts already past, A fifth shall close the drama with the day. Time's noblest offspring is the last."

We may not be "times noblest offspring," but we hope to be, if that "fifth act" of the great human drama lasts long enough.

Revered Hymn-Writer Passes

Long Beach Press
Who has not been thrilled by that stirring religious air, "Onward, Christian Soldiers?" It has been the inspiration of millions. And who has not been soothed in spirit by "Now the Day is Over?" The revered author of these two world-famous hymns has just passed away—Rev. Sabine Baring-Gould, British clergyman, novelist and hymnologist. He wrote much. But he is most widely known by these two soul-stirring hymns.

The hymnologist gives mankind a service that is incomparable. There is no service for which money is given in compensation that ranks in quality with that of spiritual conquest. The spiritual riches which music has given to the world are incalculable. Music has been a vital part in fostering the religious spirit in man. And the religious spirit is a vital asset in all civilization and all worth-while progress. Take religion out of the world and there would be retrogression and reversion to barbarism.

The author of "Onward, Christian Soldiers" has waited millions of souls nearer to Heaven. He has given vast numbers of human beings impulse to fight on to spiritual conquest. The spiritual values of such inspiration are beyond computing. May the soul of him who thus has left a rich legacy to his fellow-men rest in peace in the eternal realm!

Politics and Taxes

Riverside Press
To the average senator and representative at Washington, the main issue at present appears to be politics. To the average citizen, the main issue is taxation.

There is no getting away from that fact. Proposals for tax reduction have stirred up more enthusiasm throughout the country than anything else done or contemplated at Washington for some time. Knowledge that the present rate of taxation provides more money than the government needs, knowledge that heavy taxation is not only a direct burden on every home but a drag on business prosperity, assurance by financial experts, public and private, that big tax cuts are feasible, and concrete plans submitted by the secretary of the treasury, all have combined to start a wave of popular demand that is already great and steadily growing in volume. When the nation is in such a mood, it will have what it wants. It will punish obstructionists and reward obedient servants.

It is a time when the best "politics" in congress is not to play politics at all, in the narrow sense, but simply to acquiesce and do what the country wants. Credit then will go where credit is due.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

THE CHILD BELOW PAR
I had the privilege of examining the boys of a reformatory school a couple of years ago. They ranged in age from ten to eighteen years.

As I looked them over there were some well built boys in the group, but not very many. I had not gone over many of the boys before I found an unusual number of physical defects, such as a school examiner finds in any city school—that is in regard to teeth, throat and eyes.

However the outstanding thing was their height, weight and chest development. They were much below par in these points. I went into the matter of the family history of the boys with one of the officials of the school. From him I learned that many of the boys came from homes where one of the parents was missing.

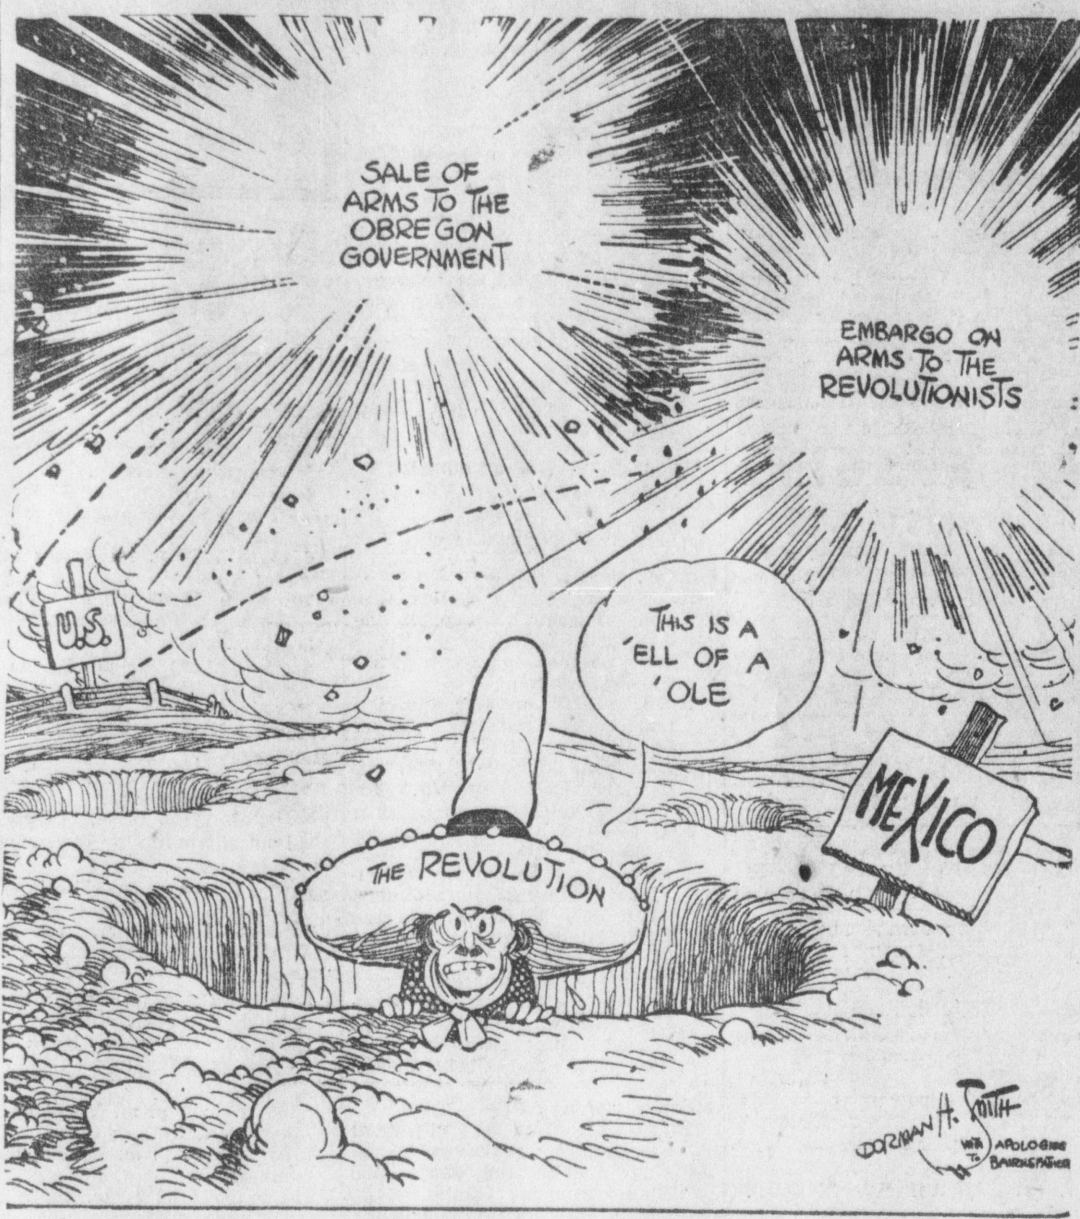

This might be due to the death of that parent, but more frequently due to dissensions and quarrels between the parents. I asked the official who was more frequently to blame, the mother or the father. "Well," he said "I used to think it was the father, but the more I investigate matters, the more I believe that it is fifty fifty, or equally divided between mothers and fathers."

Now I learned from the boys and likewise from this official that the parents of certain boys of poor physique, were themselves of good physique.

What is my point.
That given good surroundings, good food, and regular hours, children will usually resemble their parents in build. But with a household upset by domestic troubles, where the children go to school when they like, are on the street, or at the movies day and night, where well cooked nourishing food is an unknown or rare thing, these children show it in their bodies. And the unfortunate thing about it all is that it occurs just when they need good food, proper hours, to say nothing about discipline. This school was doing good work considering its inadequate equipment. But I just wondered if as citizens we realize how much was being done for the next generation by pastors, priests, and social workers, who by so doing and so patiently keep husband and wife, father and mother together in the home.

Their work will show in the bodies of the children, to say nothing of their moral and spiritual development.

No "Better 'Ole" in Sight

What Makes America Great

From the Delineator

Nations are good or bad according to their traditions and their aspirations.

What is it that makes America great? King Albert believed that the strength of America lay in her promise to the children of the poor. This is only one of our sources of strength.

America is a great nation because we believe in individualism, because the law is for all of us, and so are our opportunities, because each generation may be supported and developed by the sons of poor men.

Our controlling passion is to be a free and proud people. And next in importance is our desire to be square.

We do not harbor hatred. The poisons of suspicion, fear, envy, relentless hate of other nations do not flow through our veins. We do have a hatred of principles we believe to be wrong—autocracy, oppression, broken faith.

We survive and prosper according to individual initiative. It is a common occurrence for a boy to come out of poverty and leave a great fortune at the end of his life. It is an every-day happening for men of great wealth to give away millions of dollars to science, education or relief.

We are the most generous of the people of the world, the least materialistic. We like to make money because it represents reward for effort, and a certain power, and we like to live well.

But we desire also to give the other fellow a chance. We want to share what we have. We want a better world, and especially a better America. That is one of our traditions and aspirations, one of the things that make us a great nation. We want to live and let live. Dear God, keep this a part of us. Let us never lose our reason in the blind fog of hatred.

Worth While Verse

THE SWEET NOTES OF THE BELL

I mill the bells we used to know,
That sang so sweetly long ago,
Those bells that danced the echoes down
By quiet field and sleepy town,
That were so rhythmically in tune
With hallowed Sabbath days in June.

Those days when leaves were dropped and still,
And feathered songsters on the hill
Sang but a ghost of song, a prayer
To mingle with the bell notes there,
And all the breezes drowsed asleep
That hallowed Sabbath day to keep.

I miss the couples, arm in arm,
Who walked the short-cut through the farm,
The old folks bonneted and gray,
Young lovers conscious of the day,
The children, clean and primly dressed
In their old-fashioned Sunday best.

And sometimes when I'm walking down
A noisy thoroughfare in town
The traffic flings a sound to me,
A note, that stirs my memory,
I dream, and dreaming hear the song
Of Sabbath bells I've missed so long.

With some old comrade, arm in arm,
I walk the short-cut through the farm.
The daisies lift their blooms to me,
And old friends greet me graciously,
And all is peace and all is well
Where fall the sweet notes of the bell.

—James B. Iden.

ARTICLE NO. 15.

Whether or not connected with his trade or business, a loss sustained by reason of fire, storm, shipwreck, or other casualty is a deductible item. The term "other casualty," within the meaning of the statute, is one which arises from the physical forces of nature; for example, a flood or frost. If a taxpayer's home or automobile is destroyed by fire, or if his summer bungalow is damaged by a storm, he may claim a deduction for the loss sustained. Allowance, of course, must be made for any insurance received.

In event of a collision between a truck and an automobile used for pleasure or convenience, the owner of the truck may claim a deduction for damages, provided at the time the truck was being used for business purposes. No deduction is allowed the owner of the automobile, because the car was not being used for business; neither is it a "casualty," as defined above. Amounts expended by owners of automobiles used for pleasure or convenience in repairing damages thereto caused by negligent operation do not constitute deductible losses.

Loss of property by theft or burglary is deductible, also a loss from embezzlement. Ordinarily a loss from embezzlement or theft occurring in one year and discovered in another is deductible for the year in which sustained.

Losses in illegal transactions are not deductible.

The Patchwork Quilt

OH TEMPORA!

In times of old when lovers bold
Beset a path in manner sinister,
Fair maid with youth scarce dared
to walk,
Lest he might lead her to the minister.

The maiden's treasure trove of gifts
O'er which she lingered with much
yearning,
She packed into a "glory box"
And gave her sisters much heart burning!

Times changed; her store of pretty things
The china, glass and dainty linen
Were all assembled in a box
Whose name "hope chest" would set you grinnin'.

Now hopeful maidens of today
Whose sighs for love might chance
to trouble you,
Pack all their pretty things away
And call the chest "I. W. W."

You wonder why they chose the name?
Go on and guess—you really can't,
sir?

It's simple, as I'm sure you'll claim,
"I wonder when," that is the answer.

CHRONICLES OF THE LITTLE GRAY HOUSE

Interested in the Chronicles of the Little Gray House, Ray-the-Bride asked us the other day, if we found children and their funny little sayings, of any interest.

We certainly do. We like to hear 'em and also we like to watch them, especially if they are unaware that one of those strange people called grown-ups, is near. For instance yesterday in a big car on Broadway just around the corner from Fourth street was a demure little maid who, left to sit quietly for a few minutes while her Mummy and Daddy finished a bit of shopping, was busily employed with a small paint brush and a bottle of turpentine in cleaning the steering-wheel before their return.

She was making a most thorough job of it, and the turpentine was pretty equally distributed over the wheel, the cushions and her own dainty little frock. Her eyes were big with interest and I am sure she felt that her Daddy would be pleased with the result of her work.

I was sorry I couldn't stay to see their return. I only hope they were half as pleased as she evidently anticipated.

How we digress! What we started out to tell was Ray-the-Bride's little story of the small child who accompanied his mother to the grocery. "Mother," he asked beseechingly, "Would you buy me something that I want very much?" "Why perhaps so, Dear, if you will tell me what it is." "I don't exactly know what it is called," he replied, "but they have it at the grocery where we go and I think maybe they call it bee's jam!"

I hope he got his honey, don't you?

ACCORDING TO "FLICKERS" in the Riverside Press, a Vegetarian says that, as food, eighteen carrots are as good as gold.

Almost every one knows J. C. Hayden of the Southern Counties Gas company. Well, Jack was making a little informal speech at the last meeting of the Efficiency club in appreciation of the members having elected him president.

"What I think of all that gas and the gas company have accomplished in Santa Ana," he said feelingly, "I am reminded of Tennyson's immortal poem 'Forward the Light Brigade!'"

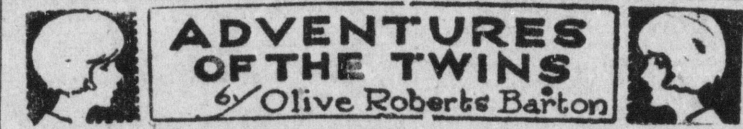

"And back in the rear of the club-room a mere outsider, guest for the evening interrupted feelingly: 'Oh, what a charge they made!'"

THE COIN.
Into my heart's treasury
I slipped a coin
That time cannot take
Nor a thief purloin—
Oh better than the minting
Of a gold-crowned king
Is the safe-kept memory
Of a lovely thing.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS
by Olive Roberts Barton

NO. 2—MOTHER GOOSE GETS A PRIZE

The Riddle Lady was just as glad to see the Twins as the Fairy Queen had been.

And the Twins were just as glad as she was about it. Such a dear, funny place Riddle Town was—with its question mark chimneys and its dear, funny people!

In order to sharpen their wits and make them the smartest people in Fairyland, once a day the Riddle Lady asked them a riddle. But lately it seemed that nobody could guess a single thing!

"I don't know what's gone wrong with my subjects!" she remarked to Nancy and Nick. "But it does seem as though they brought dunces caps along instead of thinking caps. I have a riddle all ready now and I'm going to read it in a minute when everyone gets here. We'll see what happens today."

Pretty soon when all the Riddle Landers had arrived, the Riddle Lady began her riddle. This was it. See if you, too, can guess the answer.

"We're fat and round and jolly,
And clear as silver bells,
We gleam and glow with every hue
Of bud or flower that ever grew
In magic fairy dells.

"We're light as birdie feathers,
Or breathlike thistledown,
We sail away to lands of air,
To see the things that happen
there.

In castles of renown.
"Our birth was very lowly,
But we must tell the truth,
Our home was in a sudy bowl,
Then someone blew us thro' a hole,
And we escaped forthsooth.
